PREMIERS ARE JOURNEYING TO BRITISH CAPITAL CITY NOW TO ATTEND IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

Premier King and Hon. Ernest Lapointe Crossing the Atlantic; Others Are on Way or in London; Session to Begin October 19; Status of Dominions to Be Discussed

London, Oct. 11.—All seas lead to this country now for the Imperial Conference, that great cabinet of the British Empire which will meet in the historic cabinet room at No. 10 Downing Street on October 19. Prime ministers, delegates from the Dominions, maharajahs and representatives of the crown colonies are converging on London, the hub which unites the spokes of the British Empire.

It has been three years since there was called a meeting of the Empire's "board of directors," and many questions have arisen to crowd the programme. There are the usual problems of Empire growth, including trade, migration, defence and communications, but these will be dominated this year by questions which go to the very roots of inter-empire relations.

TREATY QUESTION

The big question is the treaty-making status of the Dominions in foreign affairs. The fact of Empire, which made Great Britain the policeman of the Rhine, marked a new departure in British diplomacy. For the first time in history Great Britain has been asked to consider the Dominion of the Union of South Africa.

STATUS OF DOMINIONS

Probably the next question of importance will be the discussion of the individual status of the Dominions. General Hertzog, South African Premier, in a speech delivered last May, urged South Africa's claims of a sovereign status and asked that Great Britain join in declaring the Dominion independence of the Union of South Africa.

It has been reported that since his arrival in London General Hertzog's views have been somewhat modified, so only the conference itself will develop his exact attitude.

280 KILLED IN MEXICAN BATTLE

Nogales, Ariz., Oct. 11.—The Nogales Herald's correspondent at Magdalena-to-day wired the newspaper that 280 Yaqui Indians and about eighty Federal soldiers had been killed or wounded in an encounter near Corral Station, Sonora, Mexico, on the night of October 8. The correspondent at Magdalena with a military convoy, based his estimate on official communications received by the commanding officer.

MUCH POLICE GRAFT FOUND IN CHICAGO

Federal Investigators Say Rum Men Recognized Regular Scale of Pay

Chicago, Oct. 11.—A graft scale for members of the Chicago police department, paid monthly by liquor gangsters, quoted patrolmen at $15 and mounted to near the $1,000 mark for high officials, evidence in the hands of federal officials reveals, according to The Chicago Herald and Examiner.

This was disclosed by the Government as it gathered details of wholesale protection of liquor interests by officers for presentation to the federal grand jury Wednesday and was said to have been the high spot in their move for the indictment of dishonest police.

Patrolmen received $15 monthly from the Genna combine in return for protection, sergeants $25, captains $150 and high officials $800 and up, according to information secured by investigators. At the Genna power office, a grandstand passed a year ago, after several Genna brothers had been slain, one after the other, about 300 patrolmen were receiving their monthly "allowances" from the liquor leaders, it was reported.

Two were killed. So great a drain did this become upon the Genna profits that it led to a gun battle between gangsters and police in which a representative of each was slain, it was said.

A twenty-five page written statement, said to have been given to federal officers by a former Genna gangster and naming police who received the graft money, is expected to be the Government's chief weapon in securing indictments.

HOUSE LEADER PLAN FOR CONSERVATIVES

Suggested at Ottawa Caucus Meighen's Resignation be Not Accepted

Country-wide Convention Next June is Urged; 200 at Conference

Ottawa, Oct. 11 (Canadian Press).—That the resignation of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen from the leadership of the Conservative Party of Canada be considered at a national convention to be held in the month of June next was a proposal moved this afternoon at the Conservative caucus here.

Under the resolution, a House leader would be selected at the caucus of the elected members of the party held during the forthcoming session.

Discussion followed the submission of the resolution to the meeting, held behind closed doors.

FOREIGNER SESSION

At the foreigner session strong opposition towards the acceptance of Mr. Meighen's resignation was voiced on behalf of Quebec and the Western provinces. While the meeting was held in camera, it was learned during the noon adjournment that Armand Lavergne had made a motion expressing the confidence of the Quebec Conservatives in Mr. Meighen and urging Mr. Meighen's resignation should be refused. The motion, it is said, declared that under Mr. Meighen's leadership the Conservative vote in Quebec province had steadily increased since 1921. It further stated that at present there was no person as fully qualified as Mr. Meighen to lead the party.

A. G. McKINNON SPOKE

Mr. Lavergne delivered a speech in support of his motion and was followed by A. G. McKinnon of Regina. Mr. McKinnon stated Mr. Lavergne's motion was a "very good" one, but that the resignation of Mr. Meighen had the support of the West.

Following the speeches delivered by Mr. Lavergne and Mr. McKinnon, Mr. Meighen, it is understood, reiterated his decision to resign as leader. The result of the decision, however, was that a motion moved by M. H. Hannesson of Selkirk, Manitoba, that the meeting be adjourned until this afternoon in order to enable further discussion of the motion.

PERLEY SPOKE

Among the speakers, in addition to Mr. Meighen, was Sir George Perley. At the opening of the meeting Hon. Donald Sutherland, who was Minister without portfolio in the late Conservative administration, was elected as chairman. He was Conservative candidate in the recent general election in South Oxford, Ontario, where he was defeated.

CANADA REPORTS 123 ITALIAN MEN

Europeans Who Illegally Landed in Nova Scotia Sent Back From Halifax

Halifax, Oct. 11.—One hundred and twenty-three Italians, all but six of the number who landed at Mill Cove, Nova Scotia, some weeks ago in direct contravention of the immigration laws, were quietly deported to-day by Immigration officials.

ETERNAL PUNISHMENT IS NO LONGER BELIEVED IN, SAYS DEAN INGE

London, Oct. 11.—Very Rev. William Ralph Inge of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, the "gloomy dean," contributed an article to The London Sunday Express in which he supported the doctrine of eternal punishment.

LETTER MISSING

Los Angeles, Oct. 11.—The Los Angeles Examiner says the original $500,000 ransom letter in the Almas Temple McPherson case, which was sent from San Francisco May 24 last to Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, has mysteriously disappeared, and is believed to have been stolen from the files of the Los Angeles police department.

SECOND LOSS

The ransom letter, said to be the only handwritten one figuring in the McPherson case, is the second case of documentary evidence said to have disappeared since the investigation (Continued on page 3)

Victoria Men May Go to Orient on Trade Survey Tour

Victoria representation on the Canadian Trade Commission which will set out for the Orient on March 17, 1927, is attracting attention now, through action of the city industrial committee and Roger D. Pinneo. Vancouver will have forty delegates on the mission and it is suggested that Victoria business men prepare early for able representation on the group that is to tour China and Japan with a view to new business.

BOY HIT BY AUTOIST DIES

John V. Tickle Fails to Recover From Injuries When Knocked Off Cycle

Knocked down by a motor while riding a bicycle on Friday, John Vickers Tickle, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke M. Tickle of 51 Oswego Street, died yesterday afternoon in St. Joseph's Hospital.

"The lad was riding a bicycle on St. James Street at 3:30 on Friday afternoon when he was knocked down by a car driven by William Brown, 56 Lewis Street. Mr. Brown swerved on to the grass to avoid hitting the boy and rendered what assistance he could. Dr. Lennox, who was called in, found that the boy's skull had been fractured in two places, and although everything possible was done for the lad he passed away yesterday without regaining consciousness. He is survived by his parents and one sister.

GLoucester Fishing Schooners in Race

Contest For Supremacy Off Massachusetts Between Columbia and Henry Ford

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 11.—The fishing schooner Columbia, Capt. Ben Pine, to-day won the first of three races with her sister schooner, the Gloucester fleet, the Henry Ford, sailed on a forty-mile course off here. The start was at 11 a.m., and the official finishing times were: Columbia, 2:49.56; Henry Ford, 2:51.09.

The schooner race, between the Columbia and the Henry Ford got under way in a northwest breeze off this port to-day. The Ford was first away and got ahead of the Columbia.

The official starting times showed the Columbia crossed the line at forty-seven seconds after 10 o'clock and the Ford was over the line two seconds later. A twenty-five-mile wind was blowing.

PEKING CELEBRATES BIRTH OF REPUBLIC

Peking, Oct. 11.—A military celebration, recalling the founding of the Chinese Republic fifteen years ago, was held yesterday. Six brigades of troops were reviewed by Chang Hui-shen-Ling, the young general who is master of Peking. A dozen aeroplanes participated in the celebration. Telegrams from Hankow described preparations for a monster celebration there by Cantonese troops.

WUCHANG NOW HELD BY CANTON ARMY

Northern Chinese Forces in City Gave Up After Bitter and Long Siege

Hankow, Oct. 11.—The tragic episode, the siege of Wuchang, is over, and Chang Kai-shek, commander-in-chief of the "Red" Cantonese army, has realized his prediction of some weeks ago that he would celebrate there the anniversary of the founding of the Chinese republic. When Chang left Canton he made his prophecy and seizure of Wuchang the primary objective of his advance upon the Yangtze.

PREMIER NOT GOING TO RETIRE: HEALTH IS GOOD, HE STATES

No Foundation For Reports of Impending Changes, Mr. Oliver Says

Poor Health Might Cause Resignation But He is Feeling Fit Now

Premier Oliver has no intention of retiring. This was made clear by the Premier himself today when he was questioned on sensational reports about his impending resignation from the leadership of the Liberal Party in British Columbia.

In a brief statement the Premier said he did not contemplate retiring for any reason, and that there was no foundation for the report that he would quit politics after the next session of the Legislature.

"At my time of life I cannot but realize that if my health should fail, it might compel my retirement from the position I hold," he said. "During the early part of this year I suffered considerably from neuritis. I am, however, very pleased to say that this has almost disappeared, my present health is very good, and I have not in contemplation the probability of retirement from any other cause. So that I may say, as far as I am concerned, there is no foundation for the stories."

Water Decision to Be Based on Long And Expert Study

Arbitration of the water price dispute between the city and Oak Bay, under the Provincial Water Board, will be a lengthy proceeding, it was indicated at the Lands Department to-day.

Neither of the two disputing parties need expect a decision on the price question in a few days after the water board has been asked officially to arbitrate, it was stated by the Lands Department.

Investigation of all circumstances surrounding the proper price for city water consumed in Oak Bay will require a great deal of work by experts, it was explained. On these investigations the water board will render a decision.

CANTON STRIKE ENDS AND TRADE REVIVES

Move Directed Against British Firms' Dealings Lasted Sixteen Months

Hongkong, Oct. 11.—Lifting of the anti-British strike and boycott became at least partially effective yesterday, the date that had been set for the resumption of business.

Termination of the demonstration, directed principally at Hongkong, which is under British administration, was announced by the Canton Government some time ago.

In order to induce the strikers to suspend their activities, however, it was found necessary to give employment or give guarantees for the sustenance of many who had been actively engaged as pickets.

NEW HEAD SOUGHT FOR UNIVERSITY

Regents of Washington State Institution Ask Dr. Stephen I. Miller to Act

Seattle, Oct. 11.—A three-hour session of the board of regents of the University of Washington yesterday was devoted to the selection of their first choice for president of the university to succeed Dr. Henry Suzzallo, broke up without a definite acceptance by Dr. Miller of the tentative offer.

The regents offered to install a programme that would give the new president a free hand in educational policies and to be "guided" by his advice in so far as the instructional staff was concerned.

Dean Miller is understood to have asked more time to consider the matter.

A. H. B. Jordan, president of the board of regents, said following the meeting that "it might be assumed" that final decision in the case of Dean Miller would be reached by Thursday. Dr. Miller has planned to remain in Seattle until that day.

The regents last Monday indefinitely suspended Dr. Henry Suzzallo as head of the institution. Dr. Miller formerly was dean of the College of Business Administration and at present is educational director of the American Bankers' Association.

NOW FACES SECOND CONSPIRACY TRIAL; H. M. DAUGHERTY

New York, Oct. 11.—The jury in the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial, sixty-five hours after taking the case, was discharged to-day by Judge Julian F. Mack without having reached a verdict.

Former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller are charged with conspiracy to defraud the Government in a $7,000,000 release of war impounded assets.

SHRINERS TO STAGE CEREMONIES HERE

Nile to Join Gizeh Temple in Big Functions at End of Month

Shriners of the Pacific Northwest will stage a great ceremonial at Victoria on October 30 and 31 under the illustrious potentate for British Columbia and the Yukon, James W. Hudson.

In these two days of ceremonies, which will be staged at the Victoria Theatre, Nile Temple of Seattle will join with Gizeh Temple of British Columbia.

Upwards of 1,000 Shriners and their families will be here for the ceremonies. Nile Temple is sending twenty-five Seattle chapters, a uniformed patrol of forty and a uniformed band of sixty.

TURNOVER TAX PLAN BRINGS OPPOSITION

Committee of Vancouver Board of Trade Says it Would Be Mistake in B.C.

Vancouver, Oct. 11.—The Vancouver Evening Sun says:

"The turnover tax, proposed substitute for the personal property tax, has been tried and found wanting by a special committee of the Vancouver Board of Trade, which in decisive terms reports against its adoption."

"Higher public expenditures for tax collecting, increased overheads for the monthly information under the terms of the proposed tax, and inevitable passing of the tax to the ultimate consumers are objected to by the committee on turnover tax."

GRAIN CROPS OF U.S. ARE ESTIMATED

Wheat Total is Put at 839,818,000 Bushels by Agricultural Experts

Washington, Oct. 11.—The preliminary estimate of Spring wheat production in the United States indicates that the condition of the crop on October 1 was placed at 213,336,000 bushels, as against 212,169,000 bushels a month ago and 276,875,000 bushels a year, in a crop report issued to-day by the Department of Agriculture to-day.

The preliminary estimate of Winter wheat production is 636,482,000 bushels, making this year's total wheat crop 839,818,000 bushels, as against 660,000,000 last year.

Corn production was placed at 2,679,888,000 bushels. A month ago a total of 2,697,872,000 bushels was indicated. Last year's crop totaled 2,905,053,000 bushels.

Oats 1,232,619,000 bushels a month ago 1,263,619,000; Last year 1,511,888,000.

Barley 196,762,000 bushels; a month ago 195,204,000; last year 217,497,000 bushels.

Flaxseed 19,492,000 bushels; last month 19,258,000; last year 22,918,000.

COUNCIL TO RATIFY PLANS FOR HARBOR DEVELOPMENT HERE

Removal of J.B.A.A. Buildings and Erection of New Wharves Part of Plan to Be Laid Before Council To-night by Officials of B.C. Coast Service

Plans calling for considerable development of the inner harbor docks of the British Columbia Coast Service division of the Canadian Pacific Railway will be laid before the City Council to-night for formal ratification.

The City Council has already given its consent to the improvement suggested, which involves application by the company for northernly foreshore frontages at Menzies, Oswego and St. John's Streets. All that remains before the application goes forward to the Federal authorities is the ratification of the plans to-night, a formal procedure only.

The improvement follows as a development of the recent exchange whereby the James Bay Athletic Association agreed to a removal to Gorge waters to property to be acquired for them by the C.P.R. in exchange for their present holdings. The city, on its part, agreed to relinquish claim to foreshore frontages at the harbor line in front of the streets named, and a small irregular patch of land at this point.

The agreement was reached after a citizens' committee representative of Victoria organizations, headed by H. D. Twigg, had negotiated with Capt. J. W. Troup and city officials.

The tracings to be laid before the City Council show the projected elimination of the present J.B.A.A. buildings, and the substitution at that site of a modern approach and wharf to link up with the existing C.P.R. wharves at the harbor line east of the present docks.

A second pier, to link up with the outer side of the inner dock of the present terminals to the west and extending for 150 feet along the harbor line is also proposed.

The changes would have the effect of removing unsightly structures and replacing these by a straightening out of the wharves at this point. They would effect a marked improvement in the appearance of the inner harbor just at the point where visitors first see the magnificent group of buildings facing the inner docks.

Ratification by the City Council is expected to take place to-night as a matter of course, when the plans will be forwarded to Ottawa in support of the company's application.

Displaced by the change the J.B.A.A. are to secure title to a valuable property on Gorge waters, the site of the former Gorge Hotel. This is to be purchased by the C.P.R. at a figure in the neighborhood of $15,000, to be decided over in exchange for the present structure now to be removed.

Upwards of 1,000 Shriners and their families will be here for the ceremonies. Nile Temple is sending twenty-five Seattle chapters, a uniformed patrol of forty and a uniformed band of sixty.

These bodies, along with the Victoria Gizeh Temple band and patrol, will provide entertainment during the ceremonies.

J. McEwan Died In Vancouver City

Vancouver, Oct. 11.—John McEwan, sixty-two, well known throughout British Columbia as a timber broker, and postmaster from 1898 till 1909 at Dawson, where he went during the Klondike gold rush, died suddenly at his residence here yesterday.

Russell T. Scott May be Given Stay of Execution

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 11.—A writ of error, which may result in a stay of execution for Russell T. Scott, under sentence in Chicago to be hanged next Friday for murder, was issued by the clerk of the state supreme court here to-day. The writ was based on Scott's plea of insanity.

Should the court approve the issuance of the writ, the sentence will be annulled and the case will come up for review of the insanity plea and by appeal from the verdict of the lower court.

Scott, who previously was saved from death on an insanity plea, was found guilty of killing a Chicago drug clerk during a holdup. Sent to the hospital for the criminal insane at Chester, he recently was found to be sane and was again sentenced to be hanged.

Robert Scott, his brother, is under life sentence for alleged participation in the crime.

EIGHTEEN DEATHS IN STORM IN EUROPE

Hurricane Swept Denmark and Holland and Adjacent Waters; Vessels Sank

Rotterdam, Oct. 11.—Eighteen lives are known to have been lost in a hurricane which raged over Denmark and Holland over the week-end. Heavy damage was done, especially to shipping, and many vessels were in difficulties.

The trawler Agatha Maria foundered near Wye and fourteen sailors were drowned.

A tug sank with its crew of four in the Maas River after a collision.

EMPIRE CONFERENCE IS TO PROVE UNITY

Premier King, Departing From Canada For London, Speaks of the Outlook

Will Voice Aspirations of Canada as Self-governing Dominion

Quebec, Oct. 11 (Canadian Press)—Canada was taking no grievance to the Imperial Conference, said Premier King to a large throng gathered on the wharf here to bid him goodbye when he sailed Saturday night for London.

Canada was to be represented at the conference as a full self-governing nation within the British commonwealth, Mr. King told the Liberals of the district who gave a luncheon in honor of himself and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, who accompanied Mr. King overseas.

"The morrow of a victory and the eve of a departure," the Prime Minister named the occasion. Liberals from all parts of Quebec province were in the Ancient Capital for the day and the Premier was on the wharf every moment from the time of his arrival from Ottawa in the middle of the morning until the liner Megantic sailed at 9:30 p.m. with its formal conferences, hurried calls and two speeches. Shortly before the ship left Premier King addressed a crowd of citizens from a special platform on the wharf. Ship's flags were flying everywhere and a military band greeted the party at the wharf. The Prime Minister was accompanied to Quebec by Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, who will be Acting Premier in his absence, Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Railways, and Senator Dandurand, as well as members of the official party.

TO EXPRESS GOODWILL

"I am sure we will express your wishes," Mr. King said, speaking at the docks, "when we extend the goodwill and heartiest greetings of the people of this Dominion to the people of Great Britain and the other Dominions." It was the custom at Imperial Conferences for prime ministers of the dominions to meet the King. "I think I will express the wish, should that privilege be extended to me, if I tell His Majesty that nowhere more than in Canada are there subjects who love him personally and are loyal to the crown."

UNITY GROWS

The Prime Minister thanked the people of Quebec for their support in the recent general election. Canada's destiny was to be one of "unity bred of diversity," a unity in which all people of the Dominion must participate, he said. Canada was again on the verge of an era of great prosperity similar to the years in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier was at the head of affairs.

"In the last fifteen years the Liberal Party has had struggles in Parliament and in campaigns, but out of it has come a new verdict, and now we can bring forward our great policies," he said.

Thanks were extended to the people and to the press for the generous way in which the new Government had been received. Irrespective of party, the attitude of the press had been one of goodwill toward the new administration.

CITADEL OF LIBERALISM

At the luncheon, presided over by Hon. P. J. Paradis, Mr. King spoke of the city of Quebec as the ancient citadel of Liberalism and a fitting place for the celebration of a great victory.

"In going to the Imperial Conference I feel my responsibility lessened by the fact that the country is enhanced by having Mr. Lapointe at my side," he said.

Anything done at the conference on behalf of Canada would be an expression of their common point of view.

As leader of the Liberal Party he has always felt responsible self-government was essential to the maintenance of harmony throughout the country.

AGENCY FOR GOOD

"I believe in the British Empire as the greatest agency for peace and good will the world has ever known," he said. "I want to see the British Empire grow in strength and might, but it will only grow when built on the cornerstones of self-government."

"Self-governing nations within the British commonwealth—I do not believe that position will be questioned by anyone who understands the British Empire. Mr. Lapointe and I are about to share in that great gathering in London. The views we have expressed in our own land will find fullest acceptance around the council table here."

Premier King returned to the Liberal victory.

"In my own view the victory we enjoyed was the culmination of a great effort which started in 1919 to bring together all the forces of unity in this country," he said. "I believe we are in office with a strong administration by virtue of the efforts of the last few months, but in a large measure as the result of what has been accomplished in the last five or six years."

GROWTH SINCE WAR

The rise of the Liberal Party since the war was outlined by the Liberal leader. It had been inevitable that differences with the ranks should arise in war-time, but with the convention of 1919 the forces of unity and toleration had been launched. The year 1921 had seen how difficult it was to bring all the forces of the party together, yet the Parliament that followed would be known as the Parliament of large majorities. In the campaign of 1925 the lesson of unity had not been completely learned and the last Parliament had revealed the need for it.

Mr. King paid tribute to Mr. Lapointe's leadership in the early days of that Parliament.

"If we are here to-day as a Liberal Party it is because Mr. Lapointe fought that battle in the House of Commons," he said.

"In that tight position our friend, Charles Dunning, showed the stuff he was made of and resigned the premiership in his province when at the very zenith of power to share in the fortunes of our party."

"When everything is considered, it was the record of the Liberal Party from 1921, when it took office, until the last election that was the determining factor in our victory."

Liberalism in Canada had never been more united than to-day, he said.

NO GRIEVANCE

Again referring to the Imperial Conference, he said: "We are in the happy position of having no grievance of any kind. The relations between this Dominion and the mother country are all that could be wished for."

I feel that our one aim and purpose should be to represent Canada as a full self-governing nation—one of the British Empire, and all under one king, one flag and one ideal. Hon. Ernest Lapointe spoke briefly at the luncheon and after persistent calls for Mr. Dunning, Minister of Railways, made a few short remarks.

LAWN BOWLING

Success all along the line was the keynote of the annual meeting of the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club held on Friday evening at the club house.

The annual report, read by the Secretary-treasurer (Mr. George Vallance), referred in complimentary terms to the splendid showing made by the winners of the various trophies and prizes during the past season, (which have been reported in these columns from time to time), and expressed the gratitude of the members of the club to the donors of these prizes.

"Our record in the Victoria and District League," said the report, "of eight wins and four losses, is quite creditable considering the large amount of talent at the disposal of our chief opponents. The outstanding feature of the season, it was recorded, was the play for the handsome silver rose bowl presented to the club by Messrs. Byng, Huddleston and Vallance which, it was hoped, would eventually become a historic piece of club silver."

The gratitude of the members of the club was also expressed for various gifts which had been made to the club during the season, and the members of the club were putting the green into such excellent shape as well as assisting in the work on the new clubhouse which is in the course of erection. The members of the Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club had also surpassed themselves during the past year in supporting the club, both financially and socially, $15 having been contributed by them towards the cost of the new clubhouse.

The president spoke in eulogistic terms of the untiring work which had been done by Mr. George Vallance, the secretary-treasurer, in the organization of the club and the promotion of the various events which had taken place during the year, adding that it was only a question of time before the Burnside club would have one of the finest bowling greens in the Dominion.

The treasurer's report showed an income from the Summer game of lawn bowling of $215.05, and from carpet bowling during the Winter of $281.30 which, together with $125 contributed by the Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club and $100 from the recent special tournament on the Beacon Hill greens, made a total income of $622.35, and after all expenses had been met, there was a balance in hand of $227.92, a result which was heartily applauded by the members present.

Mr. W. H. Tupman, who had audited the accounts, congratulated the secretary on the excellent manner in which the accounts were kept as well as on the hard work which he had put in on the green and in promoting the different competitions throughout the year.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the secretary-treasurer, to whose "driving power and energizing force and vim" Mr. Tupman referred in proposing this compliment.

Mr. George Vallance and Mr. Phil Handley were appointed delegates to attend the annual meeting of the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association to be held on the main lawn at Victoria on October 18.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows—Hon. president, Mr. F. A. Pauline; hon. vice-president, Mr. R. H. Huddleston; Mr. B. Macnicol; president, Mr. J. M. Boyd; vice-president, Mr. Frank Byng; secretary-treasurer, Mr. George Vallance; auditor, Mr. W. H. Tupman; executive committee, Messrs. A. A. Pass, A. Stewart, Charles Goodwin, A. Edwards, R. Endine, J. P. Hibben, W. H. Peters, M. King, J. R. Johnson and Fred Moules.

On Saturday afternoon another "bee" was promoted for the purpose of furthering the erection of the new clubhouse, when the entire floor was laid by the voluntary labor of the members of the club, refreshments being supplied by the ladies of the club. It is anticipated that the superstructure will shortly be proceeded with so that the new "home" of the club may be occupied as soon as possible.

COLLISION BRINGS DRIVER TO COURT

Frank Mann Pays Heavy Fine For Driving to Common Danger

One of the heaviest fines on record in British Columbia courts for a breach of the motor vehicle traffic regulations was handed down this morning by Acting Magistrate James Forman in the city police court, when Frank Mann pleaded guilty to a charge of driving to the common danger. He was sentenced to pay either $100 or serve a month in prison. Mann was on remand and had previously pleaded not guilty. He changed his plea to-day.

C. Stewart, who gave evidence in the case, told of the accused having driven his car down Hillside Avenue and of his crashing into witness's automobile in which were riding several women. One of these passengers was flung out of the car by the force of impact and seriously hurt.

CANADIAN CROP TO BE PROFITABLE DESPITE WEATHER

Threshing Being Resumed, Although Manitoba and Saskatchewan Get Rain

Winnipeg, Oct. 11.—That optimism is again prevalent with respect to the crop, and that the crop in the main will be a profitable one are the main notes of the report issued this morning by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

The weather during most of the past week was favorable and much threshing was done. On Friday and again this morning rain and snow fell in parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. This means a suspension of threshing operations for at least two days. Threshing, however, is general with the exception of districts which received further precipitation. Indications are that in spite of the loss of grades from which many farmers will expect satisfactory yields in many localities are reported as phenomenal.

War weather and wind in Manitoba created excellent drying conditions, enabling many threshing outfits to resume work. Local rain over the Portage division and on the Bredenburg subdivision caused some delay. Yields in Manitoba have been fully up to expectations and from forty-five to fifty per cent of the threshing of both wheat and coarse grain in complete. Grades have suffered reduction due to blanching and sprouting. The latter condition while affecting some areas from twenty-five to thirty per cent is not serious when the whole crop is taken into consideration. In Manitoba this year and will more than offset financial loss caused by lower grades. There has been a slight shortage of farm help but this condition is not regarded as serious.

Rain fell on portions of Central and Northwestern Saskatchewan. Further showers and snow reported to-day from Selkirk to Swift Current, and from Eyebrow to Kerrobert, and on McMoran subdivision. Snow was reported from Theodore west to the Alberta boundary, heavy rain on the Bredenburg subdivision with scattered showers in a few other parts of the province. Threshing continues in the other districts of Saskatchewan, from eighty to eighty-five per cent of the grain is threshed and from fifty to fifty-five per cent in the north. Yields are turning out well and grades are generally better than expected. Fall plowing is delayed, and only five per cent completed. The farmers will easily catch up with the pace of their work provided severe frosts hold off as long as usual. Labor conditions are acute in some districts.

In Alberta cutting and threshing continued until Friday when rain halted operations. Threshing will be resumed in all parts of Alberta to-day with the exception of the St. Albans and the west end of Brooks subdivisions. Cutting is completed with the exception of the Crow's Nest and Red Deer subdivisions, where from ten to twenty-five per cent of the grain remains standing. Threshing is about fifty per cent complete. Reports of wheat growing in stock are exaggerated and out-turns are expected to show less damage than rumors indicate.

Sugar beets are being harvested and are showing a greater tonnage than last year. Livestock market is active and quite a number of cattle have been shipped.

On the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway weather conditions have been showery, but on the whole sufficiently favorable to permit carrying on with threshing operations. The crop is exceptional in this district and most of the grain going into the elevators is grading No. 1. In British Columbia the apple crop the Okanagan is being harvested under more favorable conditions. The movement of fruit through the prairies has been slow owing to weather conditions there. Packing houses are filled to capacity. The onion crop was damaged from thirty to fifty per cent by frost on September 26 and 27. This does not mean that all this quantity will not be shipped but that there will be very few standard grade onions fit to sell from this territory. This frost completely wiped out the balance of the tomato crop but the fruit trees were not hurt.

Nanaimo, Oct. 9.—Jenji Yagi, Japanese, an employee of the Timberlands Logging Camp, was instantly killed when caught between two logs while at work yesterday.

THIS WOMAN NOW WELL
Her Suffering Relieved and Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I am certainly very grateful for the benefit I have received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, also the Sanative Wash and the Liver Pills. In the early spring I was suffering so much from loss of blood that I thought I would never be any better as doctor's medicine relieved me only for the time being. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the Toronto Star, and I find the Vegetable Compound Tablets the best for me. I have been taking them since Spring, and I intend keeping them by me all the time. After reading your Private Text-Book I saw it was necessary to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and I can safely say I feel a different woman. My friends remark how well I look. I am a very busy woman, but I am ready at all times to boost your medicines."

Mrs. CHARLES GIFFIN, 949 Lansdowne Avenue, Toronto, Ontario. You may be having an experience similar to Mrs. Giffin's and will be interested to know what she did. Every sick woman can feel confident that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help her, since we told that it does help 98 out of every 100 women who take it.

COUNCIL HAS LIGHT AGENDA TO-NIGHT

Elk Lake Farm Crop Contributes to Surplus

Willows Lease Deferred Until Further Negotiation Held

Crops on the city's farm at Elk Lake brought $1,446 to municipal coffers, it is stated in a report to be made to the City Council to-night. The administration at Elk Lake shows a favorable balance of $1,156, some of which could be used in improving the beach at the lake, it is suggested by the committee.

Reports from D. A. Macdonald, city controller, and James Barf, city building inspector, who represented Victoria at recent conventions, will be tabled to-night.

In communications to be read the Council will be asked by the Crusaders Associated Industries to extend until next year the offer of a lease of grounds at the southwest corner of North Park and Cook Streets.

Proposing to construct a modern indoor stadium for basketball and other athletic purposes, the Crusaders believe they will be able to go ahead with their plans early in the new year. The city offered the lease at nominal figure, and is likely to extend the arrangement as requested.

Action on the Willows Exhibition grounds and the city manager by-laws will be deferred, it is expected, as committees in charge of the two subjects are not yet ready to make their final report.

The civic court of revision on the 1927 assessment roll was in session again at 3 p.m. to-day, making progress on a light list of appeals. The revision court has set October 15 as the date on which it will hear arguments by those notified of a raise in their assessment.

Opinion is divided on whether a raise would be justified at this time or not. The revision group claim that only an adjustment to equal present discrepancies is intended. Approximately seventy owners of property in the Yates, Douglas and Fort Street areas are affected in notices sent out by the court of revision recently.

Challenges against the rulings of the city assessor and his staff are light this year, and the major protest recorded to date has been that against the intended action of the council committee dealing with the 1927 assessment roll.

REVIEWED HIS COURSE

Following the election of the chairman Mr. Meighen addressed the caucus, placing before the party his resignation as leader. After reviewing his chiefship since 1920, Mr. Meighen expressed his appreciation of the loyalty shown him by the party. He had, however, he stated, come to the decision to resign as party leader and asked his resignation be accepted.

MRS. SIELAFF HEARD AT McPHERSON TRIAL

of the Angelus Temple pastor's kidnapping story started. The other was the disappearance of the Carmel grocery lists, the loss of which has been charged to a member of the Los Angeles county grand jury.

NEW WITNESS

Harry D. Hallenbeck, formerly a close friend of Almeria Temple McPherson and a member of the Angelus Temple congregation, now ranching near Yuma, Arizona, will be called to the witness stand by the prosecution, it was learned to-day.

While it was not known just what the state expected to develop from Hallenbeck's testimony, E. J. Dennison, assistant district attorney, said the rancher probably would prove a valuable witness. It was understood the Arizona phase of the disappearance case had presented a somewhat different aspect to the prosecutors since the testimony of A. D. Murchison, police officer of Douglas and experienced desert man.

HUNT FOR ORMISTON

Reports that Kenneth G. Ormiston, former Temple radio operator and co-defendant with the evangelist, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, who has been the object of a widespread search, had been traced to a point near Douglas through the reported sale of his automobile, were being investigated.

Numerous "tips" that the radio man, considered the key to the disappearance mystery, had been seen in the vicinity of Los Angeles kept special officers of District Attorney Asa Keyes busy during the past few days.

Troubles encountered by Keyes in financing his activities in the McPherson case were ended temporarily to-day with the granting of an additional $2,000 by the board of supervisors.

IDENTIFIED BY FERRYMAN

Arthur Watts, ferryman at the Blythe-Ehrenberg crossing of the Colorado River, has identified Almeria McPherson as the woman who crossed over into Arizona at that point during the early part of last June, according to the district attorney's office. He will be summoned as a witness at the hearing this week.

Watts is quoted as having stated to district attorney's investigators that he not only saw Mrs. McPherson, but that he spoke to her as he ferried her across in his boat. The identification is said to furnish the missing link in a trial of evidence pursued by the investigators in an endeavor to learn the pastor's whereabouts between May 29 and June 23 last.

The prosecution contends that "on the former date she left Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, where it is charged she remained in hiding with Kenneth G. Ormiston, her former radio operator, during a part of the time after she was supposedly drowned. She appeared at Douglas, Arizona, on the latter date with her story of escape from abductors who, she says, kidnapped her at Ocean Park May 29. From Carmel the trail was picked up at Yuma, Arizona, where E. S. Hagmes, contractor, reported the evangelist stopped to buy a newspaper on June 23. Hagmes was brought here last week and identified Mrs. McPherson as the woman at Yuma when he pointed her preliminary trial.

SENT TELEGRAM

From Yuma the investigators went to Gilabena, where Bill Blevins, telegraph operator, and Frank Daly, freight agent, declared they saw Mrs. McPherson on June 15. Blevins identified the evangelist as the woman who sent a telegram from his office.

The preliminary trial this morning entered its third week.

Mrs. McPherson, discussing her case over the week-end, pressed with a smile at a surprise in store for the prosecution during the closing days of the hearing. She would not definitely say what it would be, but intimated that it would be a wonderful thing if "Steve and Rose," two of the trio she says kidnapped her and who are branded by the prosecution as "monks," would walk into the court-room.

NEW HEAD SOUGHT FOR UNIVERSITY

make a statement, whatever the outcome, when the conference was over. When it broke up, however, all he would say was:

"No conclusion has been reached. Mr. Jordan is preparing a statement."

Jordan's statement read as follows:

"The board of regents is seeking a president for the University of Washington, and has just had a conference with Stephen I. Miller, former dean of business administration at the university and at the present time educational director of the American Institute of Banking. No offer was made Mr. Miller, but the matter is still under consideration."

The new president of the university, when selected by the board, will come to the university with the understanding of the following relationship between the board of regents and the president:

"1. The board of regents will be guided by the president as to increases and changes in the instructional staff.

"2. The president will have full control of all educational policies.

"3. The board of regents will give the university full support of such a budget as will maintain the high educational standards in teaching, personnel and equipment and will obtain a president in whom the board, the staff at the university and the public will have implicit confidence."

EARL OF ELGIN IS ILL IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Oct. 11.—Suffering from a throat infection, the Earl of Elgin, Lord High Commissioner of the Church of Scotland, was rushed to a hospital here immediately on his arrival to-day from the East. He is reported to have a high temperature, but his condition is no thought to be serious.

Lord Elgin, accompanied by his wife, is on a trip across Canada, at the invitation of the National Council of Education.

HOMES ON ALASKA ISLAND BURNED

Villages Near Juneau Swept
By Flames; White and Indian Families Now Homeless

Juneau, Alaska, Oct. 11.—Seventy-five white persons and 150 Indians are homeless after a fire which yesterday swept the towns of Douglas and Treadwell, on Douglas Island, two miles from Juneau.

The residences of twenty-four white and forty-two Indian families were destroyed. The fire started in an Indian village near Douglas and wiped it out. Carried before a heavy wind, the flames jumped into the town of Douglas and destroyed thirteen residences of white persons, two business buildings, the Roman Catholic and Congregational Churches and an old hospital.

From Douglas the fire spread half a mile to Treadwell, where it wiped out a store, an office building and eleven residences occupied by white families.

Douglas and Treadwell, which adjoin on Douglas Island, constituted the gold-mining metropolis of Alaska before the mines became flooded ten years ago. A combined population of 5,000 soon dwindled to 700, where it has since remained.

CURES OF PARESIS ARE ANNOUNCED

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 11.—Cures of paresis, hitherto a hopeless disease, have been accomplished at the Ontario Hospital here, Dr. English, superintendent, announces.

The discovery made recently in Austria that malaria germs tend to bring about the recovery of such patients has been employed at the local institution and Dr. English states the results have been of such a character that the treatment may be regarded as most effectual of such cases. Many patients treated have apparently recovered almost completely. Whether the recovery will be permanent has yet to be learned.

processions were held in celebration of the event. Examination sheds which had been used by the pickets in their strike activities were taken down and erected near here for the accommodation of returning strikers from Macao elsewhere.

The Kuomintang executive addressed a letter to "strike comrades" expressing admiration for the excellent work done during the strike and urging employment of every effort against any imperialist movement in the future.

Opinion here is that trade with Canton will revive gradually. A British coasting steamer left here for Canton to-day.

GASOLINE FIRE

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 11.—High test gasoline, blazing in three Standard Oil Company tanks after an explosion from an unknown cause in the centre of a 2,000,000 gallon gasoline and naphtha tank farm in Southwest Baltimore was drained away by firemen Saturday night without serious damage to adjacent property. Six alarm called out all downtown and harbor fire apparatus and residents were ordered out of three nearby residential blocks. No one was injured.

THE EMPIRE CONFERENCE

NEXT WEEK THE PRIME MINISTERS of all the British Dominions will meet together in London at another Imperial Conference. The gathering was to have been held last year; but the elections in this country were responsible for its postponement until a more convenient time. It will be remembered that it was the suggestion of the Government of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald that the meeting should furnish an opportunity for the Premiers to discuss constitutional questions arising out of the ratification of the Treaty of Versailles and the negotiation of the treaties of Lausanne and Locarno.

The Imperial Conference, of course, has no executive power. It is purely consultative and is called from time to time to enable those who direct the policies of the various parts of the Empire to discuss common problems in an informal manner. It is a useful form of interchange if only because it permits a more intimate and exhaustive survey of Dominion affairs than would be possible through years of correspondence between the various Dominion governments. The practical results of some of these gatherings have not been imposing. It is none the less good for the Empire that there should be these occasional meetings between the political leaders of the Commonwealth. The mere publicity which they arouse at least directs attention to the Empire and its progress where such educative matter is most needed—in the Old Country.

Mr. Mackenzie King, as Prime Minister of Canada, will represent the largest of the British Dominions. He will be attended by Mr. Lapointe and several departmental experts. Mr. King will be more than ordinarily interested in that part of the proceedings which the Government at Westminster will set aside for the discussion of those constitutional points which it is desirous of clearing up to the satisfaction of all concerned. Since the last gathering of the Empire Premiers took place, moreover, history has been made on the continent of Europe. An understanding which was reached at Locarno, while its terms expressly exempt the Dominions from all responsibility for its enforcement, bears upon the foreign policy of the Empire as a whole. Some public men and some newspapers, both in the Dominions and in Great Britain, are continually pressing for a common foreign policy for the whole of the self-governing Commonwealth. But it is difficult to frame a programme of common action to cover every set of circumstances and very little progress is likely to be made in that direction.

The Canadian Prime Minister also will discuss the question of Canada's ambassadorial representative to the United States, agreed upon in London, Ottawa and Washington six years ago. He should be able to dispel the apprehension which some Old Country newspapers have manifested in this respect. The relationship between Canada and the neighboring republic is altogether different from the relationship, for instance, between Australia and the United States. The reasons are obvious. Of particular importance to all the Dominion representatives, also, is the problem of a better distribution of people throughout the Empire. Canada has a special interest in this part of the agenda and the contributions which her spokesmen will make should be of considerable value to the Conference.

Suggestions that there will be plain talk at the coming gathering need not worry anybody. It would be a pity if Dominion statesmen were to gather together for a chat and indulge in nothing more than platitudes. That would be quite unlike British procedure. The Empire has been built by plain talk. It can be strengthened, its members will be able to understand one another better, by still more plain talk.

MAKING CANADA INDUSTRIALLY

OPPORTUNITIES FOR CAPITAL IN Canada was the central theme of an interview which Mr. M. J. Scanlon, vice-president of the Powell River Company which has just spent another $8,000,000 on its British Columbia newspaper plant, gave to The Vancouver Province the other day. He points out that it takes far less capital to carry on industries in Canada which depend upon the natural resources than it does in the United States, and gives his reasons as follows:

In the United States the timber-lands, mines and fisheries have all been alienated and, as far as I am able to observe, no particular benefit has been received from them by either the government or the citizens. In many cases these natural resources fell into the hands of promoters who, in turn, passed them on to corporations which were not properly capitalized. The result was, in many cases, that everybody who was interested lost heavily.

Such a possibility in Canada, under Dominion or provincial methods, is out of the question. The natural resources are the heritage of the Canadian people, and the government and the people will be receiving the benefits of them for possibly hundreds of years to come. This is only right and just. It makes it easier for people to come into British Columbia and start industries using the natural resources, for the simple reason that the government is a partner in so far as natural resources are concerned. In other words, the government is the owner of the raw materials and the manufacturer pays for them as they are converted, as in the case of lumber for paper.

The Powell River Company has now invested $25,000,000 at Powell River. It has established a model town where more than 4,000 people are prosperous and happy. More than ninety per cent. of the machinery at the plant is Canadian or Empire made. It is turning natural resources into the finished article and selling that article in the markets of the world. Upon this principle of establishing industries in this country Canada will continue to improve her economic position. The Powell River Company has set a fine example of faith in the Dominion.

ANOTHER CASE OF RESTRICTED VISION

ONE OF THE CURIOUS DEVELOP-ments at the convention of British Conservatives at Scarborough last week was the resolution asking the Government to break off all relations with Soviet Russia and expel all Russian agents from Great Britain. The die-hards introduced the proposal and got it approved, so the report states, because none of the other delegates at the gathering had the courage to oppose it.

This is an interesting piece of business because it was carried through on the eve of the meeting between Sir Austen Chamberlain and M. Krassin at which the latter is going to ask for facilities for loans and probably offer some kind of a settlement of the old Russian debts. It is to be noted also that Mr. Baldwin was at Scarborough and delivered an important speech on the subject of capital and labor. While he is not reported as having taken any part in the discussion of the anti-Soviet resolution, it is authoritatively declared that the Government will ignore the convention's resolution.

British merchants, of course, are increasing their trade with Russia all the time. They are taking their chance as British merchants always have done. There will very likely be a number of bad debts; but as commercial interchange between the rest of the world and Russia increases, the sooner will Russia get rid of her unworkable economic formula. It is to Europe's advantage to get her on a sound basis again. But the die-hard Tory is noted for his restricted vision—where the benefit of the majority is concerned.

"AET HAS NO NATIONALITY"

SINCE LAST MARCH THE GROSS PRO-fits accruing to the company which owns the famous Theatre Royal in Drury Lane totaled nearly $1,000,000. The stockholders got a dividend of ten per cent. and a bonus of two and one-half per cent.

Some of those stockholders, however, are very sensitive about the origin of certain productions, even though they produce such an excellent return for their money, and Sir Alfred Butt, the theatre's manager, and one of the most successful theatrical directors in Great Britain, had to tell those who attended the recent company meeting and objected to the importation of musical comedies from foreign parts that he was tired of such talk.

The show that has given Drury Lane more profits in a shorter time than it has ever made before is "Rose Marie." Here are Sir Alfred's own words on the subject which was raised at the meeting the other day:

I know there is a small minority which considers it a desecration and degradation that a musical play produced at Drury Lane, but I am rather sickened and tired of all this cant. After all, art has no nationality, and I am satisfied that the moral and material results of over 2,000,000 people witnessing a production like "Rose Marie" are far more beneficial from the national viewpoint than the effect produced by many so-called intellectual plays which, for their success, depend largely upon sensuality and salaciousness.

Sir Alfred followed this up with the statement that he had offered $5,000 down on account for a good play dealing with an Empire subject; but not one he could recommend had been forthcoming. Nor need he worry about public opinion. Most of it favors healthy and enjoyable plays that instruct and entertain.

MR. FERGUSON'S TURN NEXT
From The Financial Post

Ontario people are beginning to find out how onerous their second income taxation is. For the average salary earner, whose municipal income tax was formerly less than the Federal tax, the position is now reversed.

EXTREME PARTISAN FOLLY

From The Ottawa Citizen

After the election, it is amusing to look over some of the wild partisan views that were expressed before polling day. They go to absurd extremes. One Conservative paper in the West, campaigning against Liberal and Labor candidates, stated that "a vote for either one of them will be a vote of approval of the attacks upon Lord Byng." There must have been many people who voted for both, who would no more approve of an attack upon Lord Byng than they would of an attack upon King George himself.

According to the Tory electioneering argument, an important western constituency, where the people have hitherto prided themselves upon being very loyal, voted to censure the Governor-General. Of course, nothing of the kind influenced the electorate on Lord Byng, nor did any other successful candidate in Western Canada. But outside observers might very easily be misled by the statements of extreme partisans, which invariably recoil on the heads of people who make them.

To A T.

Designs drawn for architectural or mechanical plans are drawn "to a T," as are all lines which must be absolutely accurate. The T square is the habitual companion of the draughtsman, and no artist would feel prepared for a day's work if this important tool were missing. A "T" of slightly different proportions is found in the tool kit of the carpenter and is essential for measuring true angles and in handling lumber. Hence, the meaning of the phrase "to a T," "exactly," "to a nicety," or "as true as an angle drawn with a T square."

Canadian Questions and Answers

VANCOUVER AS A SHIPPING PORT

Q.—What is Vancouver's status as a shipping port?

A.—Vancouver is rapidly expanding as a shipping port. During 1925 goods to the value of $13,000,000 were exported or imported there, 43,000,000 more than in 1924. This extensive commerce was handled by nearly 20,000 sailings, showed an increase of nearly 1,000,000 tons gross. The outgoing passenger traffic numbered nearly half a million.

POLICE SYSTEM BEFORE SAANICH TRADE BOARD

Brentwood, Oct. 9.—The Saanich Board of Trade held their regular monthly meeting in the Institute Hall, Rev. M. Bruce, the president, introduced Police Commissioner T. K. Harrup, who addressed the members on the proposed change in the Saanich police system. While supporting the change with many arguments, those of efficiency and economy were especially mentioned.

The high price of electric power and the system of charging for the extension of the service caused much discussion and criticism, and a committee was appointed to act with committees from other organizations in an effort to obtain more reasonable charges for light, power and extensions.

A committee was also appointed to arrange for speakers to address the board regarding the improvement in marketing fruit and other products. Councillor Hagan informed the board that the long discussed beach drive connecting Verdier Avenue with the road to Butchart Gardens would be proceeded with. Arrangements were completed for the first annual banquet of the Saanich board to be held in the Institute Hall on October 31. A party of twenty-five members of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce had accepted an invitation to be present. Prominent speakers were being invited, these and their subjects would be announced later. Several musical numbers would also be arranged for. The catering will be in the hands of the West Saanich Women's Institute. An invitation is extended to all residents of Saanich who are interested in the progress of the municipality to attend the banquet.

Islands

Mayne Island, Oct. 11.—An enjoyable birthday tea was given by Lady Constance Rawkes at "Culzean" on the occasion of her birthday. The winners who guessed the most were Mrs. West, first; Mrs. Coates, second. Those present were: Mrs. E. Maude, Mrs. West, Mrs. Coates, Mrs. G. Maude, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Guernsey, Mrs. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Captain and Mrs. Waugh and Mr. and Mrs. Hall.

There was a good attendance of members at the weekly tennis club meeting. Mrs. G. Maude served tea. Commander and Mrs. Maude have returned home after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson of Mill Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have been spending a few days in Vancouver.

Mrs. Stewart of Galliano Island has been staying with her daughter, Mrs. Hall.

The Rev. R. Porter has returned home from a visit to Victoria.

Miss V. Robson has gone to Vancouver.

Mrs. Cullison has returned to Victoria after a visit to her son here.

Mr. Turner of Vancouver is shortly opening the store at the end of the wharf.

Mr. Bishop is going to build a log house on his property here.

Recent guests at Grandview Lodge were Mr. W. Boyls of Vancouver; Mr. D. Webster, Mr. W. Buckett and Mr. E. Ware, all of Victoria.

GALIANO ISLAND

A very jolly time was spent when Mrs. Patience gave a tea party in honor of her daughter, Dorothy's ninth birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Barnbrick, Mrs. New, Mrs. Lord, the Misses Lillian Moir, Betty Lord, Edwin Morgan, Myrtle Barnbrick, Rosamund Murcheson, and the Masters Dick Morgan, Angus Murcheson and Nigel Morgan.

Miss A. Lee has returned to Vancouver after a visit to Mrs. Gilmore.

Mr. F. Thornley of Queen's Avenue, Sidney, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Lord.

Mr. C. New has returned home after being away all the summer.

Mr. H. Savage of Ladner was a visitor here.

Mrs. Drew is staying with Mrs. New.

Mr. J. Smith has returned to Vancouver after a visit to Mrs. Gilmore.

ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE

Winnipeg, Oct. 11.—Werner Preisig, 22, a recent arrival from Port Arthur, Ontario, in a hospital here in a precarious condition from a bullet wound in the head, said to have been self-inflicted. Preisig hailed a taxi Saturday night and asked to be driven to the hospital. While the taxi was en route, the driver heard a shot and, on investigating, found Preisig lying in the back seat with a revolver beside him.

TWO MEN KILLED IN CALIFORNIA CLASH

Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 11.—Two men were killed and another a policeman was wounded as a result of a vengeful husband's armed hunt for his divorced wife Sunday in Richmond, Rolland A. Heard, thirty-three, was slain by a policeman after he had shot and killed Herbert Vestel, a cousin of his former wife, Mrs. Mary Heard. Heard was killed when he was trapped in his car while he fled along the crowded tunnel road here in an exchange of shots with his slayer. The policeman, George W. Bentley, was shot in the head, but his cap deflected the bullet and the officer received only a slight scalp wound. Vestel was slain when he denied Heard entrance into the Vestel home, where Mrs. Heard was hiding. Mrs. Heard divorced her husband in Santa Rosa six months ago.

WHO IS YOUR SKINNY FRIEND, ETHEL?

Tell him to take McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets for a couple of months and get enough good healthy flesh on his bones to look like a real man.

Tell him, it's the only way to take those grave-like hollows from his cheeks and neck.

Tell him that thousands of thin, puny, peaked, scrawny men all over America have improved their physical health and appearance and bless the day they first heard of these wonderful sugar coated tablets so full of weight producing vitamins.

Ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets. Vancouver Drug Co., MacFarland Drug Co., Owl Drug Co., and every druggist sells them—60 tablets—48 cents. Any thin man or woman can put on five pounds of healthy flesh in 30 days or your druggist is authorized to refund the purchase price.

CALIFORNIA POLICE HUNT TWO GUNMEN

Robbers Killed Man in San Francisco, Wounded Six and Kidnapped Woman

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—White police tried vainly to pick up their trail, two young gunmen carried on a campaign of wanton murder, robbery and kidnapping here late Saturday night and early Sunday. Operating in a stolen automobile, they struck in various parts of the city, killing one man, shooting down and injuring three more, slugging three others and kidnapping a woman.

Sacramento, Oct. 11.—Two boy bandits early this morning held up four men within a space of twenty minutes in the heart of the downtown section here and threatened one of their victims with death because he only had 50 cents in his pockets.

While they were debating whether to shoot him or stab him he was saved by the appearance of another, who was in turn held up and robbed. The bandits answered the description of a pair who earlier had operated in San Francisco.

POLICE SWOOP ON MOONSHINE MAKER

Find 600 Gallons of Rice Mash on Hornby Island

Making a raid on Hornby Island upon which provincial police have several times swooped to shut off the supply of moonshine which they suspected is being distilled from the island to Chinese in the Province, 600 gallons of rice mash, testing 8.71 alcohol in weight was found hidden away in the woods near the cabin home of Fon Shon. One bottle of moonshine seized tested 32.06 per cent alcohol. The furnace was boiling merrily when Corporal Matthews and Constable Panton landed from their speed boat on the island and came upon the ten barrels of rice mash, some of the moonshine and the apparatus they allege is being used for the manufacture of liquor for Chinese of the Province. The whole was placed under seizure.

W. A. Rollins Died In Terminal City

Vancouver, Oct. 11.—After having suffered for ten years the effects of a head wound received in France in 1916, W. A. (Billy) Rollins, formerly of Cranbrook, died at the Shaughnessy Military Hospital on Saturday. Born at Lukin, Ontario, forty-six years ago, the late Mr. Rollins came to Cranbrook in 1903 and after taking a prominent part in athletic and political activities in that city for about ten years, moved to Vancouver in 1912 to be associated with his brother, Victor A. Rollins, in the management of the Granville Palace Hotel. He enlisted early in 1915 and went overseas with the first artillery draft from this city. He was wounded in 1916 and was in hospitals in England and France for more than a year before being moved to Canada.

He had never been able to work since his injury and had been in and out of hospital many times.

He is survived by a widow and three children; as well as by two brothers, Victor A. and Jack Rollins of Vancouver, a sister in London, Ont., and a brother in Sarnia. His mother, Mrs. William Rollins, is living at Lukin.

The funeral service will be held on Tuesday at 2 p.m.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED

Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 11.—Five persons were instantly killed when a New York Central passenger train struck an automobile truck at a grade crossing near Crissey, Ohio, fourteen miles west of here, last night. Those killed were: Mrs. El Orl, forty; Ellen Orl, fifteen, a daughter; Mon Orl, three months old, a son, and Lavine Orl, four, a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orl. All lived in Slick, Ohio.

The funeral service will be held on Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Ram Runner Jackie Caught When Supply of Fuel Gives Out

San Diego, Oct. 11.—Driven to seek fuel ashore when the gasoline supply gave out and kerosene and kerosene failed to operate the engine, the 35-knot ram runner Jackie was captured with its crew of four men and a cargo of 250 cases of whiskey at La Jolla late Saturday night.

The cargo is valued at $25,000. John Lins, captain, and C. J. Walker, engineer of the Jackie, with two members of the crew, are held here.

LECTURER TO TELL OF WORLD FLIGHT

Naval Man to Speak on McLaren's Feet

An illustrated lecture that is attracting considerable interest will be given Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium by Lieut. Comstock. The lecture is entitled "From Victoria to Japan on Board H.M.C.S. Thetis," and is given by permission of Commander Nelson, R.C.N., senior naval officer of Esquimalt, and should be of interest to many Victorians as many boys from Victoria were on board the ship during the trip. A dance has been arranged to follow the lecture, with Professor O'Neil in charge of the musical programme. Tickets can be obtained at the door or by phoning 7890L or 5020R.

"Truth Came By Jesus Christ"

St. John I. (Part of Verse 17.)

Sermon by Rev. N. E. Smith, Rector, St. Barnabas' Church

St. John I, Part of Verse 17

"Truth Came by Jesus Christ"

Our Lord was and is the Truth. First He is the Truth about God. One of the most insistent questions is "What is God like?" Men have in their speculations and ideas made all kinds of images of God, held all kinds of opinions about Him. Even now there are among us many different ideas about the Character of God.

The answer to all questions is to be found in Our Lord, and that not simply because He taught things about God, but because He was God Himself amongst us to be seen and known as a Man, in a way which all can grasp.

Now you may hear things about a man, some of which may be true, and some of which may be false. You may speculate about a man, and some of your speculations may be true and some mistaken. But after while you may meet and come to know that man himself. He may present himself to you clearly so that you see and know what he really is like. You then find that certain of the things that you had heard of him were true. He confirms them and vindicates them. You will find that some things were not in fact borne out by his character when you came to know him, and those things you will reject. You will find that some of your speculations were correct and some incorrect, and you will judge between them accordingly. You may also find things about him of a noble nature of which none told you, and of which none had guessed. Now it is along that line we think of God.

There were ideas, teachings, speculations, beliefs concerning God before Our Lord came in the flesh. We find that many of those things were completely affirmed and vindicated by Him Himself, not only in what He said, but also in what He was.

You will find in some religious beliefs to-day, outside the Christian Revelation, that there are ideas of God which are confirmed in the character of Christ.

You will also find that there are ideas quite incompatible with Our Lord, and these you will reject.

The Christian religion declares and believes that Our Lord was and is the unchanging and unchangeable Truth about God. No religious belief can equal it. Any other belief can only be imperfect in its idea of God, for Our Lord disclosed a love and sacrifice of God yet undimmed. He is the Truth about God because He is God.

"In Him dwelt all the fullness of the God-head bodily."

"The express image of God's Person."

He is the Truth about God.

Any idea about God that is in any respect different to this character is in that respect false.

Any idea falling short of this, is an inadequate idea. He is the Truth about God.

AND HE IS THE TRUTH ABOUT MAN

Here again you find many theories, speculations, beliefs about man. Whence he is; what he is; what is the true standard of his life; what is his purpose and destiny; strange mysterious creature, a strange creature of the highest, capable also of the very lowest, lower far than the beasts.

Men study and theorize and differ about his origin. Men hold all kinds of ideas about him; men vary in their opinions of the standards of human life and conduct; men differ about his destiny.

Now the Christian belief is that Our Lord is the real Truth about man. While we hold His deity we also hold completely His humanity. He really was completely Man. But here comes a point that is to some very sincere people a difficulty. The point of His sinlessness. They say that that removes Him from us. Makes him aloof, remote, unable to understand us as we are, in a word that He is not altogether one of us. But consider this—it is a matter of everyday experience of men and women, just in so far as they are endeavoring to be true men and women, just in so far as they are endeavoring to cast sin and failure, of true character out of their selves. And that just in so far as we see a man or woman approximating to sinlessness, we say "Ah! There is a true man—a true woman."

We know in our heart of hearts that sin and failure do not belong to our true manhood or womanhood. Therefore since Our Lord is True Perfect Man as man is meant to be and may become, He must be sinless. It is of the very nature of the case itself. But along with that, surely we are right in saying that the sinlessness with which He came into the world was maintained only by sustained effort of His Will, that He

Bazaar in Aid of Tennis Court Fund

The executive committee of St. Andrew's Kirk Athletic Club of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will hold a tennis bazaar in the lecture room of the church next Saturday, commencing at 3.30 p.m., and continuing on into the evening when all donations which have not been sold will be auctioned off. A silver tea will be held in the lecture room from 3.30 to 5.30 p.m.

The bazaar is in aid of the new tennis courts which are under construction at McKenzie and Chester Street, Fairfield District. There will be found many useful and attractive articles at the various stalls which are in charge of Mrs. J. G. Simpson, candy; Miss Dorothy Melville, baby; Miss Kathleen Muir, kitchen; Miss Ada Moffat, bedroom; Miss Mary Hamilton, dining-room; Les Smith, games; Mrs. Fred Hurley, tearoom, while Miss Reta Kelly is the convener of the bazaar. It is hoped by the committee who are putting every effort forward to make the bazaar a huge success that it will be well patronized and that they may be able to turn over a substantial sum to the tennis court fund as a result.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE W.I. MADE PRESENTATION TO LATE SECRETARY

Shawnigan Lake, Oct. 11.—At the business meeting held at the close of Miss Clay's address to the Shawnigan Lake Women's Institute Thursday seven new members were welcomed to the institute, which is a record for one afternoon. The members stood while the president expressed the sorrow of each one at the loss of Mrs. L. A. Barry, who died in Victoria after an illness of some months. Mrs. Barry was a director of the institute and greatly beloved in the neighborhood. Home nursing lectures by Miss Jeffries, of the Cowichan Health Centre, will be started immediately, the meetings being held at Mrs. Winters', who has kindly lent her home for the purpose. Literature regarding the chair of home economics which it is hoped to install at the University of B.C. was distributed to the members, and it is hoped to aid this movement financially by an entertainment of some description during the winter.

A letter from Miss Ravenhill was read, thanking the members for the donation of a cot and furnishings to the Solarium. At the close of the meeting the presentation of a beautiful handbag was made to the late secretary, Mrs. Christison, who has been an untiring worker for the institute and secretary for several years, only relinquishing the post for health reasons.

The tea hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Wheelton and Mrs. Winters. The room was beautifully decorated with autumn foliage and Michaelmas daisies.

Sir James Douglas School—All mothers interested in the welfare of the Sir James Douglas School are requested to attend a meeting held at 2:15 p.m. on Tuesday, October 12, in the principal's room in the school. A large attendance of mothers is desired.

TWICE-A-DAY

—DENTISTS ADVISE TO CLEAR FILM FROM TEETH

To Overcome "Off-Color" Teeth and Harden Gums, This Method is Generally Suggested

MODERN dental science ascribes many tooth and gum disturbances, and most cases of dull or "off-color" teeth to a viscous film that forms on teeth. Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel it—a slippery sort of coating that ordinary brushing fails to combat successfully.

Film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. That is why, according to leading dental opinion, teeth look dingy and "off color."

Film clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It invites and breeds the germs of decay. And that is why it is judged so grave a danger to the teeth by authorities.

Film is the basis of tartar. And tartar, with germs, is the chief cause of pyorrhea. That is why regular film removal is urged as probably first in correct gum protection.

Most dental authorities urgently advise thorough film removal at least twice each day. That is, every morning and every night.

For that purpose, obtain Pepsodent, the special film-removing dentifrice which leading dental authorities favor. Different from any other tooth paste.

Pepsodent curdles the film, then removes it; then polishes the teeth in gentle safety to enamel. It combats the acids of decay and scientifically firms the gums. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. And meets, thus, in all ways, the exactness of modern dental science.

On dental advice, people are adopting this new way of tooth cleansing. Obtain Pepsodent, the quality dentifrice, at drug stores. Two months' supply at a moderate price—or send coupon for 10-day tube. Use twice every day. See your dentist twice each year. Make both a habit.

CATHEDRAL SCENE OF PRETTY WEDDING

Marriage Saturday of Miss Margaret Anderson and Harold E. Miller

Christ Church Cathedral was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the Very Rev. Dean Quinlan united in marriage Margaret, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Anderson, 2336 Gold Street, and Harold Edward Miller of Birmingham, England. The church had been beautifully decorated by friends of the bride, with Michaelmas daisies, chrysanthemums, ferns and palms. A floral archway had been erected, under which the bride and groom stood during the ceremony.

In the absence of her father the bride entered the church with her brother, and looked charming in a beautiful gown of white georgette made on long slender lines with a collar of white satin ribbon and lace, with which she wore the conventional veil of tulle and orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of opelia roses and maidenhair fern.

She was attended by two bridesmaids, her sister, Miss Evelyn Anderson, wearing a lovely dress of gold georgette, and Miss Marjorie Thompson, in a similar gown of salmon pink georgette. They wore gold wreaths in their hair and carried bouquets of pale pink chrysanthemums and mauve Michaelmas daisies. The groom was supported by Mr. Clifford Kennedy, and Mr. George Ford acted as usher. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the rooms being artistically decorated with autumn foliage, flowers and ferns, the color scheme of pink and mauve being very effective. The handsome three-tier wedding cake held the place of honor on the table.

Receiving with the bride was her mother, wearing a becoming gown of sage blue corded silk, with hat to match. The many beautiful wedding gifts testified to the popularity of the young couple. The groom's gift to the bride was a travelling case; to the bridesmaids, gold signet rings; to the best man, gold cuff links; and to the usher, a penknife. The bride's gift to the groom was a set of golf-cut links.

For traveling the bride wore a grey and blue crepe de Chine gown with a grey neoprene coat and hat to match. The bride and groom left later for Seattle. After a honeymoon spent in the Sound cities they will reside in the Cowper Apartments, Menzies Street.

WIFE PROPOSED, BROWNING SAYS

New York, Oct. 11.—Edward W. Browning still wants his "Peaches" back, he told a delegation of newspaper reporters upon reaching his office today. As to her mother, we say:

"Listen, boys! I said I am willing at all times to take my wife back. He emphasized the word 'wife.' I love her more than anyone else in the wide world. I will never love anyone else." Browning added—referring to his missing bride. At that, the fifty-two-year-old really operator seemed in a mood to hit back at the girl, from some of the things she is quoted as having said about him after fleeing her gilded cage.

For one thing he charged without any attempt to mince words in the least, that it was "Peaches" and not he who did the proposing. She asked me to marry her," he said. "I never proposed to her. I told her she was too young. I told her mother the same thing. Browning insisted earnestly that when he first met "Peaches" he was led to believe that she was twenty-three years old. Later he said he was informed that she was twenty-one, but still later his secretary learned that she was "not quite sixteen."

"I was shocked," Browning said simply.

Royal Oak W.I.—The Royal Oak W.I. will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, October 13, at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. J. Nicholson. Mrs. J. D. Gordon will address the meeting on "Community Betterment." Visitors will be welcome.

Mr. Arthur McCallum has returned to Victoria from a trip to California.

Mr. A. E. Munn of Vancouver, M.P.P. for Lillooet, is a visitor in Victoria.

Mr. G. L. Hobbs of Vancouver is spending a few days in Victoria on business.

Mr. P. Deely of Vancouver is among the visitors from the mainland spending a few days in Victoria.

Miss Marquitta Nichol, who returned from abroad with her mother last week, is making a round of visits in Ottawa and Montreal before returning to Victoria.

Mrs. Neville Montgomery, who accompanied Mrs. W. C. Nichol and Miss Nichol to Europe last Spring, has now left for South Africa on an extended visit.

Miss May Macrae of the October Massions left yesterday for the Bath Alexander for Los Angeles, California, where she will spend the next three months visiting her sister.

Rev. J. X. King, of St. John, N.B., who has been spending the Summer here as the guest of his daughter, Mrs. C. E. Hall, left on Friday for his home in the East.

Mrs. A. H. Tanner (nee G. Maxwell) will receive for the first time her guests on Thursday, October 21, from 4 to 6 o'clock, at 1524 Gladstone Avenue.

The sudden death in Chicago of Robert Young of Montreal, well known to many in Victoria. It will come as a great shock to his many friends here.

Mrs. I. Gard, who has been visiting in Victoria as the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. McKicking, Linden Avenue, left this afternoon for her home in Seattle.

Miss Helen Norman, entertained at the tea-hour at her home on Terrace Avenue yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Margaret Campbell, who will leave on Saturday for New York to continue her musical studies.

Judge and Mrs. Howard Barker of Nanaimo are spending a week in Victoria as the guests of the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Michelin, Bank Street.

Miss Cicely Vincent, Erie Street, who has been visiting in Victoria, is leaving for Seattle on Friday.

Mr. M. McGaw of Kincardine, Ontario, who has been visiting in Victoria as the guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Major and Mrs. D. B. Martyn, Bond Street, left today for his home in Eastern Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buscombe of Vancouver, who were visitors in Victoria for the Eilers-Rowlands wedding on Saturday night, left last night for their home on the mainland.

Saturday evening last the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. C. Smith, "The Anchorage," 80 Dallas Road, was the scene of a very pleasant surprise party, when a number of their friends presented them with a silver sugar shaker and a silver fruit basket, to commemorate the fortieth anniversary of married life. Mr. Smith also received congratulations on having attained his seventieth birthday. Refreshments were served and several items of a musical nature, games, etc., contributed to the enjoyment of all those who gathered.

The many friends of Miss Carmelita Walker, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, of Devonshire House, will be interested to learn of her graduation as one of eighteen nurses in the class of 1926 from Providence Hospital, Seattle. The exercises, which were largely attended, took place on Thursday evening, Mrs. Walker being among the many parents present. Miss Carmelita Walker is well known in Victoria as a native daughter and former pupil of St. Ann's Academy, where three years ago she won the Governor-General's medal.

Mrs. F. W. Hartley, Monterey Avenue, entertained on Friday and Saturday afternoons with bridge and mah jong in honor of Mrs. Arthur Kohi and her daughter, Mrs. Hammond, who have recently arrived in Victoria and have made their home on St. Patrick Street. To meet them were asked: Lady Barnard, Mrs. W. J. Bowser, Mrs. E. F. Fries, Mrs. J. O. Grahame, Mrs. G. A. Kirk, Mrs. Hermann Robertson, Mrs. Cator, Mrs. H. J. Adams, Mrs. J. D. Hunter, Mrs. J. A. Ribbet, Mrs. Billings, Mrs. N. Payne, Mrs. B. S. Heisterman and Mrs. Alexis Martin.

Sir Henry and Lady Thornton have arrived in Montreal, where they will make their home. Word comes from that city that they are not to occupy the former residence there of Sir Henry, but have rented the splendid mountain-side mansion, "Juniper House," the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Beaudre of Montreal, who are to remain abroad in Montreal, where the wedding reception of the young Earl of Minto and his Montreal bride was held. With its capacious dressing rooms on its first floor and fine staircase ascending to the big drawing-room and reception rooms on the second floor, it echoes the spacious beauty of a London town house. Few houses in Montreal are better adapted for lavish entertainments than the new home of Sir Henry and his New York bride.

The marriage of Thelma, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Youngs, to Mr. F. Creech, was solemnized at the Reformed Episcopal Church on Wednesday evening by the Rev. A. de B. Owens. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. T. G. Hubbard. She wore a gown of ivory tulle crepe with girle of real orange blossoms sent from the South, also the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The attendants were Miss Thelma Smith, maid of honor, in pale blue taffeta and georgette; and two bridesmaids, the Misses Nellie Bird and Ethel Creech, in mauve and peach georgette, respectively. Mr. Jack Stewart was best man, and Messrs. C. Newbury and S. Martin the ushers. Mrs. J. C. Newbury and Mrs. M. L. Smith had decorated the church with a lovely profusion of flowers. During the ceremony Mrs. Frank Shandley sang "O Promise Me." After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. T. C. Hubbard, 127 Clarence Street, the rooms being prettily arranged with flowers. During the evening Mrs. Whidden sang solos and Miss Bird contributed piano numbers. Later Mr. and Mrs. Creech left for a luncheon on the mainland, the bride traveling in powder blue and grey. They will make their home on Upper Pembroke Street. Many beautiful gifts were received by the young couple.

HOUSE WEDDING FOR MISS BELLE EILERS

Popular Elocutionist Married Saturday to Thomas M. Rowlands

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eilers, 2815 Prior Street, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening at 8:30, when their elder daughter, Belle May, became the bride of Thomas McKie Rowlands, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rowlands. The bride is well known as an elocutionist, having appeared with much success on the local concert stage on numerous occasions.

She was given in marriage by her brother, Fred Eilers, and looked winsome in a gown of white georgette and lace. Her filmy tulle veil was arranged in cap fashion with rose point lace, and she carried a bouquet of pink butterfly roses, carnations and swansons.

Miss Edith Ann Eilers, only sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a gown of mauve georgette, trimmed with taffeta flowers. Her bouquet was of mauve and pink cosmos and as the bride entered the room scattered petals in her path.

Mrs. Eilers, handsomely gowned in violet georgette and cut velvet, and Mrs. Rowlands, in a becoming gown of beaded mauve georgette, assisted the young couple in receiving their guests.

The supper table was decorated with yellow candles and silver vases containing yellow chrysanthemums and centered with a three-tier wedding cake. Following a honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Rowlands will reside in Seattle, where the groom has a position on the faculty of the Ballard High School.

For traveling the bride wore a sealskin coat over a black satin frock and large black hat of satin and moire.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bussan, of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. John Rowlands and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Eilers of Seattle.

Esquimalt Sailors' Guild—The regular meeting of the Esquimalt branch, Ladies' Sailors' Guild, will be held this evening in the Sailors' Club, Admirals Road.

DAUGHTER OF BISHOP OF YUKON MARRIED

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Rowena Stringer, daughter of Bishop and Mrs. I. C. Stringer, was married on Saturday to Rev. C. R. Wilkinson, son of the Rev. Frederick and Mrs. Wilkinson. Bishop Robinson of Athabasca and Bishop Hamilton of Mid-Japan assisted in the ceremony.

Rev. I. O. Stringer is Anglican Bishop of the Yukon. Rev. Frederick Wilkinson is rector of St. Peter's Anglican Church, Toronto.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' PRAIRIE FARM CLUBS COMPETE

Winnipeg, Oct. 11.—Commencing this week and continuing until the end of October, the boys' and girls' clubs fairs will be held throughout Manitoba. It was announced today by Thomas R. Acheson, general agricultural agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Manitoba Department of Agriculture and the Manitoba Agricultural College. The winning teams in the provincial competition will receive a silver cup and medals, and will be given a trip to the Winter Fair at Toronto.

Unusual interest is being manifested in the competition this year because of the increased number of clubs in all the provinces. Reports from the extension services are to the effect that excellent progress is being made, much of which is due to the encouragement given by the railway company.

Provincial competitions will be held in Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Edmonton for the three prairie provinces.

Victoria Burns Club—The first meeting for the season of the Victoria Burns Club, scheduled to take place on Tuesday evening, October 12, has been postponed until Wednesday, October 20, at 8 o'clock, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

FILM STAR LEAVES SECOND HUSBAND

Constance Talmadge Separated From Capt. Macintosh; Divorce Pending

New York, Oct. 11.—Constance Talmadge, the motion picture star, and her husband of seven months, Captain A. William Macintosh, have separated. Miss Talmadge is on her way to California and Captain Macintosh is returning to England. The separation, the screen star's friends say, is amicable but permanent and will be followed by a divorce, equally "friendly," just as she divorced after a few months her first husband, John Pialogiu, a wealthy importer. The reasons she gave for that divorce were that she wished to continue her screen career and found she could not do so successfully while wedded. The same reasons influence her again, her friends say.

BY whom, and the exact location at which gold was discovered in British Columbia is a point upon which we have no record. But gold was found, in paying quantities, and the report of its finding brought a horde of adventurers from the south. In a few months Victoria was transformed from a sleepy trading and farming community to a centre for the activities of miners, adventurers and business men. About the fort a city sprang up almost overnight.

The potential wealth of our province still attracts many; new homes spring up daily and, to cater to ever growing needs, Shelly's organized a dependable service that all might enjoy those delicious 4X Bakery Products. Just phone your store, or Shelly's.

SOMETHING New it may be in name, but there is something familiar about the NEW flavor of Shelly's "Wheat Nuts" which makes you feel you have tasted them somewhere before. It is that basic flavor of wheat which appeals so strongly to the general taste, and in "Wheat Nuts" this delicious flavor is found at its best. No wonder that "Wheat Nuts" found popularity right from the start. As someone aptly said: "They just taste they're good for you."

The Problem of Evil

Sermon Delivered by the Rev. Ada Tonkin, Minister of the First Unitarian Church, Victoria

The Book of Job, full of difficulties for the critic, because of its composite authorship, and sometimes little understood by the ordinary reader, is yet a source of great interest and inspiration to both. What is the reason for this? It is not far to seek. The interest is aroused because the book deals with a problem of universal significance—the problem of human suffering and evil. In every age of which any record remains, the existence of evil has been a subject about which men have pondered deeply. Even in quite primitive times, men have been concerned with the "why" of individual suffering and calamity. They have usually blamed the gods for it, and have attempted to escape from suffering by placating the divine powers with gifts.

Under all attempted solutions of the problem can be seen an underlying assumption regarding the nature of God and His relation to the world. That assumption is that God is righteous and just, that the evil in the world must somehow be explained and fit in with this view of the Deity.

In the Persian religion, the followers of Zoroaster got over the difficulty by assuming the existence of a supreme good and a supreme evil power. They believed the good Lord, "Ahura Mazda," would eventually triumph over the evil Lord, "Ahriman." This idea was indeed in some measure taken over by Christianity. The figure of Satan, as the adversary of Christ, is a familiar one to the Church.

What are the motives which lie behind man's search for an understanding of evil? In the main, they may be divided into two general classes or groups: (1) The desire to escape or get relief from evil. (2) The desire to obtain power to overcome evil.

Behind these general motives lies an important fact, viz. the recognition of the actual fact of evil. It is true there are religious cults whose central thought is the non-recognition of pain or evil as facts. These, however, are in the minority, and most religious people are very much concerned with what they consider to be very painful and objectionable facts.

The motive behind our enquiry into this question is very important. Motives always are! They decide very largely the kind of answer we shall acquire. What were the motives which inspired the thinkers to whom we owe the Book of Job? And here let me remind you that this book, although a very ancient piece of literature, deals with the problem in a very modern philosophical fashion!

In the first place, we need to realize that the book is not the work of one author. Many hands at many different times have added their contribution to the question it is discussing. This, at any rate, is the considered view of all modern critics and students. The original book can be seen in the first twenty-eight chapters, although in this section there are a few passages which must be recognized as later additions or insertions.

These chapters can be divided roughly into two main parts, one a prose and the other a poetic version of the story of Job and his suffering.

The prose version is a delightful old tale, beginning, "There was a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job." The story is the tale of a man who was a model of piety, a man who was afflicted beyond imagination.

tion, and yet amidst it all, displayed a silent resignation to the will of God.

The story has been presented to our notice and emulation by countless ministers and Sunday School teachers as a perfect example of the truly pious or religious man. The familiar words which are always associated in our minds with Job's faith in God and which define his attitude towards his sufferings, are, "Yea, though He slay me yet will I trust Him."

These words have been the strength and stay of many people, men and women of high spirituality. It is with a certain amount of regret, therefore, that we discover these words do not belong to the simple folk-tale at all, but are to be found in the poetic version, a version which presents the figure of Job, not as a patient, faithful sufferer, but, indeed, as a rebellious man, voluble in his denunciation of the injustice of God under which he is suffering. We discover by a study of the original documents, that even in this account, the words as translated in our Authorized and even in our Revised version of the Bible, cannot be accepted as true to the text. The saying as it stands, "Yea, though He slay me, yet will I trust Him," is not the words of Job, but the words of the poet, who, in his own way, is expressing much more vividly and truly his utter defiance of God.

It is as though Job were challenging God to do His worst. Listen to his reply to his friends: "Surely I would speak to the Almighty, and I desire to reason with God. But ye are forgers of lies. Ye are all physicians of no value. Oh, that ye would altogether hold your peace! And it would be your wisdom. Your memorable sayings are proverbs of ashes. Your defences are defences of clay. Hold your peace! Let me alone that I may speak. And let come on me what will. At all adventures I will take my life in my teeth. And put my life in my hand. Yea, though He slay me, I tremble not. Nevertheless, I will argue my ways before Him."

What a contrast from the pious Job of the folk-tale! How can we account for these two radically different conceptions of Job's attitude?

The matter is not very complex. If we approach this piece of literature in the same spirit and using the same standards as we ordinarily employ in analysing so-called secular poetry, the simple folk-tale is evidently used as a peg upon which the poets of the poetic version hang their ideas on the problems suggested by the folk-tale.

The folk-tale is most certainly a very ancient piece of literature, and most likely not of Jewish origin. The land of Uz is not located in Palestine. The place cannot be traced with any exactitude, but was in all probability somewhere to the East of Palestine. The hero of the story may easily have been an Arabian sheik, but he was a worshipper of the Jewish Jehovah. The problems suggested by the folk-tale are two—(1) Why do the innocent suffer? (2) Why do the wicked so frequently escape the punishment due to them? The poetic version takes the form of a symposium. Its style is very similar to the platonic dialogues. It is an argument back and forth between Job and his three friends. We may think of the authors as a group of young enthusiastic thinkers, keenly conscious of the inability to find any satisfaction in the solutions offered by the orthodox religious Jews of their day. Isn't that a modern situation? They state the difficulties of the problem as they see it through the mouth of Job, and, entirely disagreeing with the folk-tale account of his attitude, make Job speak as they feel they themselves would speak under similar conditions. The orthodox Jewish solution, that is, in a rebellious, unresigned spirit, is put into the mouths of the three friends. Job takes a great delight in refuting all their arguments.

The two sides can be briefly stated thus. The explanation which the friends offer as the cause of his suffering is on this wise: First, God is just and, therefore, Job must have committed some wickedness to be punished so severely. How modern is this attitude in some quarters today! Second, when suffering comes, the only thing to do is to throw oneself on the mercy of God. Third, the wicked may flourish for a while, but in the end they meet their doom.

Truly, a religion of compensation, and one which postulates a God who makes man pay the penalty of sin. To these arguments Job replies after this fashion: First, that God cannot be just but must act in an arbitrary way, because the simple fact is that Job was not wicked, but, on the contrary, supremely good and pious, as the folk-tale tells plainly. Further, that it is nonsense to bring one's case before God, as they suggest, because that would immediately destroy their whole argument regarding His justice. God would himself be showing mercy, thereby showing that he had previously made a mistake—which was unthinkable on their views of the Deity!

Job goes on to show that there is absolutely no evidence for their assertion that in the end the wicked meet their doom; on the contrary, the evidence lies immediately before them of the wicked flourishing in every direction. It is well to remember at this time, the Jews had no idea of a world to come, such as was developed later in their religious history. The after-world of that age, if such it could be called, was a place of shadowy existences, in which the shades of good and evil alike departed. No moral significance attached to the life there. The passage in this book, which has been quoted to the contrary, "I know that my flesh is corrupt, and my soul is whole body," is probably a later interpolation, possibly a Jewish Christian. The punishment of the wicked, then, for Job's friends, was to take place on this earth, and it was this which Job quite logically refused to accept.

Such, briefly, is the substance of the arguments. A close study of the book is worth the attention of thinkers of today. It has literary and philosophical merit. Has it any practical bearing on the problem for today? It is interesting to observe that the two opposite views of the significance of evil as typified Job and his friends, are two common views of present day thought, or to views of present day thought, or to views of present day thought, or to views of present day thought.

The attitude of the friends who represent the orthodox religious view of that age, can be seen in their way of religious thought, which says, "God is in His heaven, all's right with the world." This expression of faith can be and often is the utterance of deeply religious souls who feel keenly the pain of the world. Unfortunately, in many cases, it is the attitude of people who are inactive, not really conscious of the evil and of its significance. They do not feel there is any obligation laid upon them to seek to remove the evil, but leave the work to God. They believe in a just, merciful God, and feel that somehow, somewhere, at some future time, all wrongs will be redressed. Or they assume that what seems unjust to man may be unjust to the eyes and purpose of God. It may be His way of showing men their sinful nature. It never occurs to these people that the much of the evil and pain of the world is not inherent in the structure of this universe, or in any way to be traced to God, but is the result of man's ignorance and selfishness. They never really face the problem, but run away from it, and shelter behind the idea of an all-wise, all-just God, who is in entire control of man's destiny, both as a race and as an individual.

In direct opposition to this school of thought, is the very prevalent sceptical school represented by Job. His word is "Right for ever on the scaffold, wrong for ever on the throne." The men and women who think thus are usually people who so intensely feel the evil in the world, they cannot square the thought of a just, merciful God with such evil conditions. In their inability to harmonize these two conflicting things, they throw over the idea of God and say that there is no proof of His existence, and the world is ruled by an evil power. What is God doing, they cry these people, while such terrible misery is the lot of man? If He is good, why does He not interfere? They are, of course, seeking a God who made a perfect world and created at the same time a perfect race of men, or, as some of us would think, they are craving for a world of machine-like beings, for whom morality has no significance. Only in a determined, mechanistic universe, could there be no possibility of making mistakes, and, therefore, no evil. And, in such a world, the idea of evil could not arise. Machines have no sense of right or wrong.

There is, of course, an ideal world for which men and women of vision are working, a world in which all men are conscious of their essential unity, and are so developed in personality that no member would dream of hurting another member. This would not be a machine-like universe, nor would the God of its people worshipped be a perfect, omnipotent ruler. The underlying principle of the universe would be

Tug Sadie Loses Propeller While Off Trial Island

While proceeding to Victoria from Nanaimo with a large scowload of coal in tow the tug Sadie of the Victoria Tug Company dropped her propeller just to the west of Trial Island on Saturday morning. People on the shore immediately saw the boat was in need of assistance and notified the local office of the company. The tug Sadie, also of the Victoria Tug Company, was dispatched to the scene, taking the Sadie and her scow in tow and bringing them safely into the Inner Harbor.

Dean of Canadian Pacific Employees Was 82 on Sunday

Montreal, Oct. 11.—Isaac Gouverneur Ogden, dean of the Canadian Pacific employees, celebrated his eighty-second birthday at his home in Montreal on Sunday. He is one of the most important officers of the company, being in charge of all the work of handling its finances and accounts. For the past forty-four years Mr. Ogden has been the outstanding figure in the financial department of the Canadian Pacific, his title to-day being vice-president in charge of finance. From all parts of the Dominion messages of congratulations were received at his home. In order to be held by the officials of the C.P.R., a huge basket of roses was delivered to him Sunday morning.

Can Society Make Us Abolish Marriage and Morals?

Four writers—one a woman of exalted social position—another an internationally famous judge—the third and fourth the greatest social novelists in America—give their authoritative answers in the four greatest literary features that have ever been published in a single magazine.

JUDGE BEN B. LINDSEY on The Moral Revolt
MRS. PHILIP LYDIG on The Tragedy of Gilded Youth
OWEN JOHNSON'S GREAT STORY "Children of Divorce"
RUPERT HUGHES' LATEST NOVEL "We Live But Once"

IN a democracy the mass of the people are given to imitation of the few. The few in America are the idle rich, who, in their search for new sensations, flamboyantly place themselves not only above the law but outside the moral code that society has evolved for its own discipline and salvation.

What once were secrets held inviolate are today openly discussed; habits of life once surreptitiously indulged are today boasted of; customs that have their roots in the safety of society are boldly being displaced by a code that justifies "anything you can get away with."

When came this amazing change in our manners and customs, no one knows. One declares it to be the direct result of the unbalancing of society by the Great War; another traces its origin to the possession of more wealth, almost overnight, on the part of vastly more people than ever before.

And no one is better placed to produce actual evidence of the change than Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the internationally famous Family Court of Denver.

A tolerant man, an understanding man, but more than all else, a brave man, he is presenting that evidence—and his conclusions—under the startling title, "The Moral Revolt," in the frankest series of articles that have ever appeared in a magazine.

Case after case from his own court, related in all their illuminating details, are offered by him in support of his belief that a new code of morals, particularly in relation to sex, is being evolved under our eyes today.

And in further support of Judge Lindsey's belief, Mrs. Philip Lydig, all of whose life has been spent in the world of fashionable society here and abroad, comes forward with an article entitled, "The Tragedy of Gilded Youth," in which she too cites case after case of youthful destruction as a result of young people growing up in the atmosphere that surrounds their rich and idle elders.

Not is that all. For in the fascinating form of the novel, Mr. Owen Johnson and Mr. Rupert Hughes, themselves familiar with all strata of society, present dramatic pictures of just what is proceeding on the inside of that society. Their novels, "Children of Divorce" and "We Live But Once," are written with no less frankness and first-hand knowledge than the articles by Judge Lindsey and Mrs. Lydig.

In addition to these contributions of the deepest human interest, the same magazine offers, in its November issue, the best and latest work of the most popular novelists and short-story writers—among others, Struthers Burt, Robert Benchley, Arthur Mason, James Hopper, Virginia Dale, Margaret Culkin Banning, and Samuel Scoville, Jr.

The convention will last three days, after which delegates will be afforded an opportunity of seeing Vernon and district as guests of the Vernon school authorities.

Facing a charge of attempted rape, A. J. Jones, able seaman, is to-day behind the bars of the city jail. He was arrested on a charge of attempted rape on Percy Walls, can arrange to secure bail of $5,000, in two sureties, which Acting Magistrate James Forman named this morning. Jones was formally charged to-day. A fifteen-year-old girl acting as nursemaid to accused's family was named as the victim of the alleged attempted rape.

The C.P.R. Social Club will hold their second seasonal invitational dance at the Empress Hotel on Thursday, Pitt's five-piece orchestra has arranged an excellent programme and the committee is expecting a good attendance. At the first dance of the season two weeks ago the popular series of dances promised to be as great a success this year as last. Energetic officials of the social club made capable and courteous floor managers and helped considerably in the success of the function.

A practical result of the fire prevention week, which closed on Saturday, is renewed calls at the Employment Service of Canada Office for occasional help. Many residents are employing men for a few hours at intervals to clean their cellars and generally remove all fire hazards. The work has the endorsement of Chief Vernon Stewart, and is virtually what the fire department does in relation to the inspection of business premises. In inspection of the residential area is too difficult to be carried out, but householders are invited to attend to that phase of the work themselves. Activity along this line has created a useful volume of occasional work for those in need of it. Help can be secured through the government bureau at telephone No. 184.

An opportunity is offered to the public to listen to one of British Columbia's authorities on physics at Victoria High School on Tuesday, October 12, at 8 o'clock. Dr. G. M. Shrum, Department of Physics, University of British Columbia, will give an address on "Fundamental Concepts of the Atom." Commencing with simple and elementary ideas of the atom he will describe the methods of determining the sizes and masses of atoms and electrons—the smallest entities known to man. He will discuss the structure of the atom, and explain how electrons produce light; describe isotopes, and give reasons to show why scientists of to-day believe that the elements of nature are continually undergoing transmutation. The lecture will be well illustrated with interesting demonstrations. Dr. Shrum is well known to scientists for his work on low temperatures, liquefaction of the rare gas helium, and is the discoverer of the origin of auroral lines. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Victoria centre, Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, whose president is Professor P. H. Elliott. The public is cordially invited.

ROTARIANS WORK TO CHASE GLOOM FROM CHILD LIFE

Want Football Fields and Swimming Holes Instead of Stretchers and Crutches

Superfluities Bazaar Expected to Raise Big Fund For Solarium

Picture a boisterous young boy who after a great Summer fishing, swimming, camping and boating is now striving for a place on the school football team.

Then picture a boy of the same age, plodding along with the aid of crutches or sticks or even forced to spend the long days, helpless and sad, on a stretcher fighting hard to keep back tears the while the shouts of the merry lads outside.

It is to aid young sufferers like the one referred to that Rotarians are organizing a Superfluities Bazaar October 20, Rotarian Cliff Denham points out, and he believes Rotary in Victoria never got a chance to decide to raise funds for the Solarium.

"At the Solarium," says Mr. Denham, "the story is told of a boy who will bring to stricken boys and girls the glow of health which will bring sports and games into their lives and chase out stretchers, crutches and grinders."

"I know of no cause more worthy," he adds, "and every one in Victoria can help. Superfluities embraces everything from fourth-hand automobiles to an out-of-date pin. Discarded clothes and books, golf clubs and anything that can be sold is asked for. Through their agents, Galt Brothers have placed Gordon's store at our disposal for the bazaar. We shall begin receiving goods October 14. If the load donated is too big to bring down a night, a freight truck to the door. We feel the cause is so deserving that we have only to let people know we need donations to the bazaar to crowd the store."

The Business Ladies' Club of the Victoria City Temple will hold a rummage sale Thursday next, at the store on the corner of Douglas and Johnson Streets, commencing at 9 a.m. Gifts of all description will be gratefully received and may be left at the store on Wednesday. The committee in charge of the sale consists of Mrs. R. E. Greenslade, Mrs. Grace Deaville and Miss Herd.

At the mid-week service to be held on Wednesday next at Temple Hall, Dr. Davies who is conducting a course of lectures on "How We Got Our Bible" will take for his subject, "Some English Versions of the Bible." Meetings commence at 8 p.m., in the hall formerly used by the K. of P., North Park Street. A welcome extended to all who attend these lectures and discussions.

The Knights and Dames of the Thistle are beginning their regular Winter programme of entertainments. In the K.P. Hall on October 12 a big dance will be held when many patrons will be won by the pleasure of dancing old-time favorites such as the quadrilles and lancers, while the latest of dances, fox-trots and waltzes will not be forgotten. Under orchestra has been engaged for the evening. The committee in charge is making every effort to make this one of the most attractive dances of the season. Refreshments will be served during the evening as usual by the Knights and Dames of the Thistle.

The harvest festival concert of the Church of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, Obad Avenue, under the direction of Miss C. M. Arnp, was a great success. The following artists were well received and enjoyed enthusiastically: Mr. Wright, Mr. Merry, Miss Catherine Craig, Fred Wilkinson, Miss C. M. Arnp. Miss Arnp, winner of the B.C. Festival medal for the last two years, also the 1926 gold medal of the Victoria Burns Club, was accorded tremendous applause for her recitations. Fred Wilkinson made a great hit with his character sketch and was recalled several times. The proceeds were devoted to the expenses of the church. After the concert three cheers were given for Canon Stocken and the artists, and were responded to with great zeal. After the concert Mr. A. W. Arnp auctioned off the harvest offerings.

TOUGH TIME FOR GRAIN MEN
Alberta grain growers have been hard hit by the bad harvest weather this Fall, according to Charles T. Ramsey, Saskatchewan grain man, who returned to Victoria over the week-end to spend the Winter here. Mr. Ramsey's operations centre near Saskatoon.

"In the middle part of Saskatchewan we have had a fair crop, not as good as last year's, but still quite fair, and we have suffered practically no damage," Mr. Ramsey said. "Left for the Coast the middle of last week, and coming through Alberta there was practically no wheat threshed. They had certainly been threshing a bad time of it in Alberta this Fall."

Mr. Ramsey prefers the Victoria brand of weather to what they are getting on in the prairie just now and what they will be getting there from now until next Spring.

RAIL MEN HOLIDAY HERE

A party of Canadian National officials who have been touring the western lines dropped over to Victoria this morning and established themselves at the Empress Hotel for a short holiday. They have been on the road of weather and change from the kind of weather they have been experiencing on the prairies on their way out.

In this C.N.R. party are J. A. Yates, treasurer, of Montreal; W. V. Copp of Ottawa, C. Egan of Winnipeg, W. M. B. Ross of Winnipeg, T. Hooper of Montreal.

NEUROPSYCHOLOGY IS NEED OF VICTORIA GYRO CLUB INFORMED

Young Men Want a Busy City, Declares B.C. Nicholas; Playground Idea Wrong

Around the motto of the Gyros, "Power, Poise and Purpose," B. C. Nicholas, president of the Kiwanis Club, weaved an address at the regular weekly luncheon of the Gyro Club to-day. After discussing on the motto and its effect on the life of the club, the speaker called on the members to go forth and assist in developing a new psychology for the city of Victoria in an effort to direct it on the road to greater prosperity.

"Fundamentally, there is not much difference between the men who are eminent and those who are obscure," stated Mr. Nicholas in dealing with the question of power. "The difference lies in the fact that the powers to achieve are used in one case and not in the other."

Granted that the ability to achieve was in everyone, the question, the speaker said, was how to liberate and direct it. He instanced the case of Napoleon, who utilized and exploited human powers to the fullest extent.

HOW POWER IS USED

Reasons were given by Mr. Nicholas as to how some people came to use their power. He named heredity, inspiration of example, adversity and the will to succeed.

"Touching on the second word of the motto, 'Poise,' Mr. Nicholas said that to him it denoted, will, determination and faith, and that unless there was an objective or aim ahead of these sterling qualities were of much avail.

"All the great figures in history have achieved their position through the multiplication of ability, poise and purpose," went on Mr. Nicholas. He reminded the Gyros of a need of an objective for all service clubs, and remarked that "it is a purpose which other service clubs can help you in we will be with you."

APPLIED TO VICTORIA

Mr. Nicholas then went to apply the principles of power, poise and purpose to the city, and asked whether Victoria had a purpose and aim equal to its many advantages.

"Some people want it to be a playground," commented Mr. Nicholas, "but it is impossible to develop Victoria by dedicating it to idleness. We can't remain static. We must be busy and work along the lines of the constructive corporation. We must have industries or we will not be able to keep our young men and a community which loses its young men is a most serious community."

STIMULATE THE PEOPLE

"If the Gyro Club wishes a worthy objective there could be none finer than the stimulating of the people of Victoria with sufficient purpose to get on their feet and to develop the young men here. Associate yourselves with other organizations in giving the people of Victoria new psychology."

President Archie Macdonald, in expressing the thanks of the Gyro Club to Mr. Nicholas, said that it was the finest address he had ever heard on the Gyro Club's motto.

Gyro Harry Lewis won the laundry bag which was raffied off.

False Pretences Charge Against Vancouver Man

Vancouver, Oct. 11.—J. W. Saunders, forty, who last week announced himself as the "inventor" of a railway safety device for which he had already received $200,000 for the Canadian rights, was lodged in a cell at police headquarters to-day on a charge of having obtained lodging by false pretences.

He was arrested on a warrant issued in February of this year by William Lee, which charges him with having obtained $200,000 for the Canadian rights, was lodged in a cell at police headquarters to-day on a charge of having obtained lodging by false pretences.

It is said Saunders admitted he had stayed two days at a railway hotel, but declared he had paid him. Saunders came to local newspaper offices Thursday noon last and announced the success of "inventor" for the past ten years. The model was in Toronto, he said. He also declared he had received a draft for $200,000 from an eastern syndicate. This, he said, he had deposited in a bank here.

At the Empress Hotel also are Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Reilly of Ottawa, who arrived here this morning with their baby and are spending a holiday at the Empress Hotel.

Col. and Mrs. Collard of Duncan arrived in Victoria this morning. They are staying at the Empress Hotel.

TWO MAY GET RICH QUICK

James Ferguson, who is at the Dominion Hotel from the North, says that Chris Frank and C. A. Mackay should make some money out of the mining properties of the Ingenika River valley of Fort Graham, which are likely to be taken over by the Porcupine Mining Development and Financial Corporation, which operates the Star in the Kootenay.

Mr. Ferguson, known as the original locator of the Ingenika River property, has just been shown over the property by the Porcupine, and his syndicate would make a big cleanup if the deal goes through. They have held the property only four months. The Porcupine, he said, would plan to operate the property next Summer.

BEER MEN ADVANCE SWEEPING DEMANDS

All Requests of Licensees Not Likely to be Granted; Parley This Week

Proposals Advanced Just as Politicians View Beer Problem With Concern

Reduced beer licenses, reduced beer prices, longer selling hours and the sale of bottled beer are the chief demands of Vancouver beer parlor operators who will meet Attorney-General Manson and Liquor Commissioner Hugh Davidson early this week.

The proposals of the beer men, made public to-day, indicate that they are asking for the most drastic kind of changes in the present liquor system. Neither Mr. Manson nor Mr. Davidson would comment on these proposals, but it is considered certain that all of them will not be entertained by the liquor administration. Whether any of them will be granted is a matter of doubt.

FIVE-CENT BEER

In regard to the request for a cut in the price of beer it is understood that the hotel men are desirous of being able to cut their price to five cents. This might mean the use of a slightly smaller glass, but the operators are understood to be dissatisfied with the returns being received from their concession, and they think that five-cent beer might popularize the beverage and increase sales.

POLITICIANS CONCERNED

The demands of the licensees is bringing the whole beer question to the fore again following a period of quiet. At the moment the official view appears to be rather critical of the beer license system, as it is working out in Vancouver and other places.

It is believed the beer question will be a leading theme of discussion in the Legislature at its next session. Meanwhile, there is a growing feeling in the highest official circles that British Columbia's experiment with private beer sale is not a success, and this feeling exists among members of the House who voted for beer when British Columbia adopted the present system.

G. J. A. Reany, superintendent of Insurance of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, will be this week's speaker at the regular luncheon of the Kiwanis Club, Thomas Kelway, popular tenor, is the singer. Mr. Reany is a past president of the Edmonton Kiwanis Club and is a staunch Kiwanian. As announced by the secretary, G. W. Stocker, he is a speaker well worth hearing.

V.O.N. Meeting—The regular monthly meeting of the local board of the V.O.N. will be held on Tuesday, October 12, at 251 Cook Street, at 2:30 p.m.

Is the Chosen Instrument of

GALLI-CURCI

Galli-Curci sings in Victoria on October 27, and once again there will be demonstrated to a vast musical audience the fact that there is only one instrument universally endorsed by artists of world eminence. That instrument is the great Steinway, for which we are exclusive representatives in Victoria.

DEMPSEY-TUNNEY FIGHT PICTURES PRESENTED AT DOMINION THIS WEEK

Hundreds of Visitors from Sound Cities Expected to Come to Victoria to See Pictures of Championship Battle

Lovers of the fistic art will be able to see how the great Dempsey lost his world championship, at the Dominion Theatre this week. More than 132,000 men and women from all walks of life paid exorbitant prices to see the famous encounter between Dempsey and Tunney at Philadelphia—and watched the fight in a drenching downpour of rain.

At the Dominion, visitors will be able to see the same fight in solid comfort, without the craning of necks or the great inconvenience of dodging umbrellas.

There were thirty-nine minutes of real fighting, the battle going the full ten scheduled rounds, with eight in favor of the new champion and Dempsey an "also ran." Action all the time and the downfall of a champion and the rise of a new victor.

Owing to federal law, which prohibits the exhibition of the Dempsey-Tunney pictures outside the States of Pennsylvania, hundreds of people are coming to Victoria from nearby United States cities to view the fight at the Capitol Theatre.

Manager John Robertson is to be congratulated on giving the citizens of Victoria such an opportunity of witnessing this epoch-making combat in the annals of sport at such an early date.

NOVELTY NUMBERS ON DOMINION BILL

Another fine programme will be presented by these clever entertainers at the Dominion this week. Miss Nora Jones, the well-known contralto, the latest addition to this clever company of artists will be heard in several popular song selections. Miss Jones had the distinction of winning the gold medal at the recent B.C. Musical Festival, and is a singer of rare merit. George Tait, the boy violinist, whose playing was so successful during the previous week, and will be heard again in some new selections again this week. Will Marshall, the ever popular singing light comedian and announcer, will introduce some new novelty numbers in his own inimitable style. While Jack Fidler and his band will again be well to the front in their playing of the latest popular musical hits and rhythmic classics.

Drama and Humor Interperse Feature Film at Columbia

"The Coming of Amos" is One of Banner Pictures of the Year

The combination of cast and story in "The Coming of Amos," the Cecil B. DeMille supervised production which opens at the Columbia Theatre for a three-days' run, makes this offering from the DeMille studio one of the banner pictures of the year. Headed by Rod La Rocque, who is starring in the title role, the list of players in this Producers Distributing Corporation release is unusually brilliant. Jetta Goudal as a Russian princess in a colorful role, Noah Beery as the villain, and Trilby Tringali, Richard Carle and Clarence Burton in other featured roles make up the excellent supporting cast.

The story, adapted from William J. Locke's season's best seller, is a melodramatic comedy, adapted by Garet Port and James Greeman, scenarios of recognized ability. The picture swings between tense dramatic situations and humorous incidents, with gorgeous spectacles of life on the Riviera as colorful background for the unusual story. Paul Sloane directed this piece, which stands to top the work done by him in "Too Many Kisses" and other recent successes that have brought him prominently before the eye of the picture public.

CAPITOL MERRYMAKERS OFFER IRISH WEEK

The Capitol merry-makers this week will present a unique programme which is entitled "Irish week." It might be said that this will be entirely different from any programme yet presented by them. Old Irish songs and Irish jigs will play a prominent part, but in addition to this, the merry-makers orchestra are putting on an entirely different kind of programme. A number of alterations have been made in the personnel of the company, which have strengthened this organization materially. They will appear both afternoon and evening with three performances on Saturday as usual.

Hon. G. I. Grenfell Died in England

London, Oct. 11 (Canadian Press Cable)—Lord Desborough, created a peer in 1905, and a famous athlete and sportsman in his younger days, is without an heir to his title as the result of the sudden death of his only surviving son, Hon. George Ivo Grenfell. George, aged twenty-seven years, a Grenadier Guardsman, died after a week's unconsciousness following an accident when his motor car ran into a wall. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Death has now claimed all three of Lord Desborough's sons. The two others died within a few months of each other in 1915. He and his wife, however, have two daughters, one of whom is now the wife of Sir John Balmont, air marshal and principal aide de camp to King George.

Major Hoople in 'Our Boarding House' Playhouse Offering

'Subway Sadie' With Jack
Mulhall is Screen Offering

Reginald Hincks presents "Major Hoople" of cartoon fame, at the Playhouse this week. Harold Bechtel has the role of the major. Other parts are taken by Buster (Charles Courtier) and Bob (Reg. Hincks). The girls are Eva Payne, Roberta Ealcom and Eleanor Duncalf, would have nothing to do with them. Peggy Sullivan appears as Jane, the Slavey. Miss Hepsibah Hopwell, (Vivien Combes).

Jack Mulhall, who is featured with Dorothy Mackaill and Charles Murray in "Subway Sadie," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre here, believes in doing things right or not at all.

In "Subway Sadie" he plays the part of a guard on one of New York's subway trains. Jack is not one of those individuals who declares he never rides on the subway.

He was raised in New York's Bronx and has ridden many, many times on the subway. But during all his riding he paid but little attention to the dress and actions of the guards.

So before starting work in "Subway Sadie" he decided a little personal observation would be in order. Therefore Jack started subway riding.

Audiences have acclaimed "The Vision," first of a series of Romance Productions for Educational Pictures, based on famous paintings, the most awe-inspiring short feature ever produced. "The Vision," which plays at the Capitol Theatre all this week, was suggested by the famous painting, "Speak! Speak!" by Sir John Millais, which has been on exhibition at the National Gallery of British Art in London.

Unusual as is the theme of this picture, the sheer beauty of the Technicolor work has made "The Vision" a new epic in filmdom. Subdued tones have been used throughout by Arthur Maude, who directed this Technicolor production. Julianne Johnston and John Roche head the superb cast.

"Are You a Mason" Old-time Favorite Comes to Coliseum
Screamingly Funny Farce Will Be Presented by Clever Stock Company

"Are you a mason?" an old-time favorite, a play which has been acclaimed by critics the world over as one of the most screamingly funny farces ever produced, which has stood the test of a run of a score of years and, like "Charlie's Aunt" is still running, is the choice of the enterprising Coliseum management this week. This play will be given in its entirety, the original script being followed faithfully throughout.

The return of Vangle Bielby to the Coliseum fold will be welcome news to the many patrons of the Government Street playhouse. In this week's play this clever actress has a part to which she is particularly adapted. George Olsen, Gertrude Burton, Jack Cassidy, Marie McLaughlin, Eileen Allwood, Ruth Hamilton, Catherine McDonagh, Alex. Wiers, Frank Allwood and Harry Gibbs are the other talented artists who will help in the success of the show.

CAPITOL WILL PRESENT GOLDWYN-MAYER PLAY "WALTZ DREAM" THIS WEEK

Some of Germany's Best Actors Have Parts With Foreign Cast of Note in Unusual Film

Although the players in the U.F.A. special, "The Waltz Dream," which will be presented at the Capitol Theatre this week, are unknown in America, they are young persons who have achieved outstanding success in their respective careers. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is distributing this production.

Willy Fritsch, who plays the part of Nux, the Prince Consort, is another of the U.F.A. stars whose career began with Max Reinhardt. Over the objections of his parents he enlisted under that famous director, and after a brief experience in the ensemble was assigned to a small part.

One evening the actor appearing in the part of Melchior Gabor, in Wedekind's "Awakening of Spring," took sick and Fritsch jumped into the role. It was his first stage success. Subsequently Reinhardt took him with the regular company, touring the continent.

When he returned, another German actor presented him to Ben Christianson, then directing for U.F.A. and at present on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot in Culver City. (His latest, "The Devil's Circus.")

Christianson was looking for a lead in "His Unknown Wife," and promptly signed up Fritsch.

The newcomer immediately became popular on the continent and played leading roles in the following features:

"A Lucky Trip," "Farmer From Texas," "Cupid's Express," "A Protected Girl" and "Dance Fever." Ludwig Berger, director of "The Waltz Dream," selected Fritsch to play the role of Count Nicholas Freyn, with Mady Christians as Princess Alix and Xenia Desni as Franzl, who dreamed the waltz dream.

GALLI-CURCI TOOK BRITAIN BY STORM

Great Artists to Appear Here Under Musical Club Auspices

—London is the centre of the British Empire and, too, of its most critical musical opinion. Here are but a few brief lines regarding Galli-Curci's singing there. They give but a glimpse of glowing reviews devoted to her voice, and at a length given no other diva since the immortal Patti.

The Westminster Gazette in describing Galli-Curci's first London appearance contains such expressions as this: "Galli-Curci triumphed—brilliant singing at her first recital"; "The Daily Mirror stated, '10,000 gripped by singer's spell—Madame Galli-Curci's great Albert Hall triumph.'"

In The Daily Chronicle was this: "Galli-Curci conquers London—cheering crowd of 10,000 at Albert Hall"; "The Morning Post, chronicled, 'Enthusiastic reception in London—she came, she saw, she conquered.'"

Everywhere that she sang in England it was the same. The Liverpool Echo stated, "It took Madame Galli-Curci only a few moments to bring the huge audience at Philharmonic Hall to her feet." The Manchester Chronicle announced, "Night of triumph—captures Manchester"; "The Eastbourne Gazette said, 'She charms by her vital personality, she subdues her hearers by the magic spontaneity of her art, she has the spell of the great singer.'"

Galli-Curci will sing at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Wednesday, October 27, at 8.30 p.m. Mail orders accompanied by cheque or money order made payable to the Ladies' Musical Club will be received at Fletcher Bros. up till to-morrow evening.

The box office will open at Fletcher Bros. Saturday, October 16, at 10 a.m., for which the telephone number will be 3379. Tickets ordered by mail will be given out at Fletcher's on Friday, October 15.

Marine, and the Canadian Robert Dollar Company, all Victoria boys who originally entered the Navy League to get their elementary training before joining their ships.

The Navy League Juvenile Band is another activity that the branch is proud of; and the city also are justly proud of these juvenile players who during the past twelve months have done so much in advertising the city by their success in winning the Juvenile Challenge Cup of British Columbia.

By attending the Trafalgar Carnival the people of Victoria will go a long way in assisting the Navy

League of Canada to carry on the work that it is doing in Victoria; and it is hoped that a very generous response will be made on this occasion, not only for the purpose of helping this cause but also to commemorate the great anniversary of Trafalgar.

The tickets for the carnival are now on sale at the following places: Fletcher Bros., Automobile Club of B.C., Dominion Bank, Union Steamship Co., Arthur Coles Broad Street; Cigar Store, 605 Yates Street; Crystal Garden and Navy League Office over Angus Campbell's Store on Government Street. The public are asked to purchase these tickets as early as possible in order to assist the committee in charge to make the final arrangements for the carnival.

Dmitri Suworov Is to be Executed

Saratov, Russia, Oct. 11.—The local revolutionary tribunal has brought a sentence of death against Dmitri Suworov, a prominent member of the old imperial army and a direct descendant of Field Marshal Prince Suworov, distinguished soldier during the reign of Catherine the Great.

Dmitri was found guilty after a three-day trial of having taken a leading part in the counter-revolutionary fighting of 1920.

COMIC EVENTS FOR WATER CARNIVAL

Many Attractions For Trafalgar Day Celebration by Navy League

At the Trafalgar Carnival at the Crystal Garden on Thursday, October 21, a heavy weight tight-rope walker will demonstrate his ability; and special gear has to be used in order to assure that the wire will not sag too much or break under the strain of his 300-lb. weight. Very comical events will be given by clowns and comic water artists. The water carnival will commence at 8 p.m. At 9 p.m. a living tableau of Lord Nelson will be portrayed, after which the carnival dance will be opened. Two orchestras have been engaged for the occasion, and special favors commemorating the anniversary of Trafalgar will be handed to the patrons that evening.

The Navy League which is arranging the carnival is accomplishing a wonderful work in Victoria by training Victoria boys for the Merchant Marine service. In the past four years over 200 boys have passed through the Victoria branch and are now employed in many ships in different parts of the world. Among this number there are many who are either Merchant Marine officers or almost finishing their apprenticeship period of four years. At the present time there are nine third mates in the Canadian Government Merchant

WAS ALEXANDER A GREAT NEWS

St. Louis Goes Wild With Joy on Receipt of Great News

Alexander, Caled Into Box With Bases Full in Seventh, Strikes Out Lazzeri, And Kills A Rally

Hoyt Pitches Great Ball for Yankees, But Meusel and Koenig Commit Bad Errors and Allow St. Louis to Score Three Runs in Third; Pennock Finishes Game for New York; Haines Split Finger and Lost Control in the Seventh, Which Resulted in Alexander Stemming Rush and Preventing Yankees From Winning Game; Cold Weather Kept Crowd Away, Only 38,000 Seeing Final; Score 3-2

New York, Oct. 11.—The gaunt, weatherbeaten figure of Grover Cleveland Alexander came back in all its ancient pitching mastery yesterday to check the Yanks for the third time and clinch the first world baseball championship that St. Louis has known in forty years.

Through the haze of this crucial test, the seventh and deciding game of the 1926 diamond classic, the Yank defence cracked, to yield the Cards their winning margin of 3 to 2, but it was Alexander the Great who saved the day with as dramatic and exciting a finish as any championship conflict has ever witnessed.

The bases were full, two were out and only one Yank run needed to tie the game in the seventh inning when Alexander came to the rescue of the tottering Card right-hander, Jesse Haines, whose finger was split from throwing his knuckle-ball and whose control was ebbing fast. It was a situation calculated to test the stoutest heart and the most seasoned skill, with $50,000 and a world championship hanging in the balance, but Alexander was equal to it.

STRUCK OUT IN PINCH

Facing Tony Lazzeri, a rookie almost young enough to be his son, the great veteran pitched his knuckle-ball, called on the power of a right arm that has carried him through sixteen major league campaigns and struck out his man to retire the side as the crowd broke into a frenzied uproar.

Safely past this crisis, the most dramatic moment of the game, Alexander easily subdued the Yanks in the closing two innings, yielding a pass to Babe Ruth in the ninth as he completed one of the greatest pitching exploits in world series history.

Twice before Alexander had stopped the American League champions, going the full route to gain victories that piled the fighting Cardinals each time back to even terms. It was only on Saturday that his masterful box work led the National League to the triumph that forced the series to the limit, yet he was ready again yesterday as strong and effective as ever to cap the climax of his heroic role.

Not since the famous right arm of Walter Johnson pulled the Washington Senators to the first world championship in 1924 has there been anything so colorful as this finish of Alexander's.

However, the "Big Train" came back victoriously after being twice defeated, while this time the stalwart Newbrun stepped into the line with two victories already behind him.

ALEXANDER GETS GLORY

Alexander did not get official credit yesterday for a victory that will be putting him among the honor roll men who have won three world series games. The verdict goes down on the books in Haines' name, but the glory belongs to Alexander, the thirty-nine-year-old warrior who was told "down the river" a short time ago as a Chicago Cub slacker.

Thwarted as they were by Alexander's great stand, it was nevertheless a heartbreaking defeat for the Yanks, who battled desperately to overcome the margin they had built up in the fourth inning, when the Cards, aided by two errors by Koenig and Meusel, scored all their three runs. It was heartbreaking, again shattering all world championship records, had put the Yanks in the lead and upset the confidence of Haines, hero of a shut-out victory over the American League champions in St. Louis.

HAD SPIRIT AND PLUCK

But it was thrilling just the same for the Cards, themselves victims of unfortunate breaks in previous games, yet possessed of the fighting spirit and pluck to come back when their cause seemed lost and capture on foreign soil the final two games that gave them the world championship.

Forty years is a long time between titles but this conquering clan, the first National League pennant winner St. Louis has ever had, came through under the most trying conditions to the peak, back in 1886 when St. Louis, then in the old American Association, was in the throes of its first and last pennant winning streak, its representatives triumphed over the Detroit Nationals in the ancient equivalent of the modern world series.

But those days have almost been forgotten in the long and barren stretch in between. The triumphs of ancient times carried no such glory and gold as goes with the modern classic of the diamond. Yesterday's triumph marks the end of a long trail of hope with the dreams of two score years come true.

COSTLY ERROR

Yet it was by any overwhelming margin that the Cards captured the game's biggest prize in a drab, rain-soaked setting that found only 38,000 fans, the smallest crowd of any of the four games in New York, looking, chilled, and bundled in coats. But for the errors of Koenig and Meusel, the Cards would not have scored in the fourth and fifth and Hoyt might to-day be occupying niches in the Hall of Fame that opened its portals instead to the heroic figure of Alexander.

The Yanks fought desperately to overcome the advantage they had handed to their foes. They drew up within a run of the Cards in the sixth when Hoyt was withdrawn, as reserve forces were tossed into battle. But they were balked then by Haines and again in the seventh

HEAVY FINE AND SUSPENSION FOR YOUNG LIBERALS

Vancouver, Oct. 11.—Young Liberals were fined $200 for their alleged misdeeds in connection with the provincial championship series in the interior, by the British Columbia Baseball Association on Saturday. Hec Cann, the club manager, was suspended for six games for failing to carry out the instructions of the association, and Charlie Miron, Jack Bacon and Lefty Simons were suspended for three games for offenses against the umpire in the final game of the series.

Starting with $248.30, the association set all the 1926 day-off had been decided, finished with $841.01, which meant a profit of $592.69 on the season's work.

Esquimalt Nose Out Wests and Thistles

Defeat James Island

Stewart's Goal Just Before Time Beat Greenshirts; Thistles Too Good

A hot shot from Bobby Stewart's toe after a scrimmage in the goal mouth gave Esquimalt a 2-1 win over the Wests at Beacon Hill. The winning tally was scored only a few minutes before the final whistle. The teams had battled scoreless through the whole of the second half. But after a sudden bombardment on the Wests' goal, during which Stewart singled and Ruth walked, the home side shot out after shot. Stewart got his foot to the leather and netted it.

At half time the score stood 1-1. The Wests scored the first tally when Stewart, flashing centre forward, broke away and, after eluding one of the opposing backs beat Mesher with a hard drive. With the lead in their possession the greenshirts battled hard to increase it. They were pressing hard all the time and had a slight edge on the play, but could not count again.

It fell to the lot of Jack Coulter to score the tying goal. What Esquimalt were hard on the attack toward the close of the half-one of the players on Wests' defence line handled the ball. In the penalty area Coulter took a shot which the free kick and planted a whistling shot behind Holman.

With the score tied at the recommencement, both teams threw all their strength into the attack. The Esquimalt forwards, playing their positions well, got the advantages at the break always, and were several times within an ace of scoring.

Full Card. New York saw its youthful forwards of the Wests let loose a whirlwind offensive and carried the play to their opponents' territory. Three corner kicks were awarded, but without avail. Bob Hanks missed a golden opportunity to give his team the lead when he received the ball right in the goal-mouth and he came in, but the roar of greeting was as nothing to that period when he checked the rally and went to the benches with his mates pounding him off with joy. New York saw its championship hopes fade then, but it paid tribute to the invading conquerors just the same, cheering the victors as boisterous triumph.

THE PSYCHOLOGICAL MOMENT

After one run had been manufactured in the sixth off hits by Dugan and Severid the seventh saw Combs lead off the attack on Haines with a sharp single that carried off Thevenow's glove. Koenig sacrificed the Kentucky to second and Ruth was singled intentionally again. The Babe was forced by Meusel at second, but Combs got to third and the bases were filled when Gehrig walked. Haines, his finger split and sore, was slipping fast and Hornsby chose the psychological moment to shift his momentum.

Victory or defeat rested on Alexander's shoulders. The series was in through the haze from the outfield to take his place in the box, strike out Lazzeri with consummate skill and blast the last Yank hopes. The crowd paid its tribute to Alexander as he came in, but the roar of greeting was as nothing to that period when he checked the rally and went to the benches with his mates pounding him off with joy. New York saw its championship hopes fade then, but it paid tribute to the invading conquerors just the same, cheering the victors as boisterous triumph.

NEW LAW FOR HUSKY DOGS IS DECEIT

Edmonton, Oct. 11.—Hungry huskies which lie around the northern posts with their impenetrable Indian masters during the summer are a source of danger to the unprotected children there and some regulations will soon be put into force for the control of the beasts.

John A. McDougall, of Fort Smith, agent of the Department of Indian Affairs, who is in this city from the North.

A little girl was attacked at Fort Smith by a band of the vicious dogs. The child was saved by a man who was attracted to the spot and drove off the maddened animals. She was injured, but not seriously.

Such events are not uncommon in the North and instances have been known of children being killed by huskies, many of which are part wolf. The Indians, however, make no provision for the feeding of the dogs during the summer months while the dogs are inactive, and they must hunt their food as best they can. However, he said, if the dogs were ordered tied up their would be a good chance that they would die of thirst, as the Indians are quite indifferent about their teams except when they are using them on the trails during the winter months.

Uplands Golfers, In Great Form, Beat Colwood With Ease

Playing Fine Golf Home Club Win "A" Match by 7 1/2 Points to 28 1/2

Colwood "B" Team Win Match; Uplands Scored Four-point Victory on Day's Play

Colwood golfers encountered stronger opposition than anticipated at the Uplands Golf Club yesterday in the annual inter-club team match. The home players were going like a streak and only three of them failed to gather at least a fraction of the points. At the end of the day the score stood: Uplands 7 1/2 points; Colwood 28 1/2.

In the fourball matches in the morning Uplands trebled the score on Colwood, the count being 30 points to ten. In the singles in the afternoon the results were: Uplands 4 1/2; Colwood 18 1/2.

While the "A" teams were engaged at Uplands the "B" teams had a good match at Colwood. The home club was victorious by 6 1/2 points to 3 1/2.

On the two matches Uplands won by a margin of four points.

Canadian Apple Exports to Europe Gain 50 Per Cent

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Including all kinds of shipments, from boxes to cartons, shipments of Canadian apples to European points this year will exceed fifty per cent the export of any previous year since the war. This is an estimate of J. B. Sutherland, general foreign agent of the Canadian Pacific Express.

TUNNEY WILL WED SOCIETY BEAUTY, LADY RUMOR SAYS

New York, Oct. 11.—To-day's American says that the Tunney has matrimonial intentions and that an announcement will be made during the winter. The newspaper society editor writes: "His reported bride-to-be is said to be rich, of the social register and possessed of a daddy who is connected with the Rockefellers."

Local Rugger Ties Vancouver In First Game In "Big Three"

Good Crowd Takes Well to Canadian Rugby and Thrills at Many Fine Plays

Tackling Very Hard; High Kick Lost in Sun Gives Visitors Their Tying Point

Victoria did not win the opening game of the Canadian rugger season here on Saturday, but they did not send the spectators home altogether disappointed, for they held the Vancouver team to a 7-7 draw in a close, hard-fought game.

The Royal Athletic Park was in great shape for the tussle, and the footing was good for running, but, unfortunately, the ball did not get out very often, and as a result there was very little open play.

The sun came out in the third quarter and did the damage which resulted in Vancouver tying the score and avoiding defeat. Tennant, one of the visiting backs, was given the ball on the third down for his side in an effort to gain yards with a kick. He lifted a high spiral that passed over the Victoria goal-line. Stanger planted himself under the ball in an effort to make a catch and carry the ball out, but he lost the oval in the sun and it bounded over the dead line and gave Vancouver one point.

CROWD GETS THRILL

There was a good crowd, which got plenty of thrills. Although many of them were new to the game they appreciated the hard-fought tussle, the bucking, the attempts to run around the ends, the dodging and the kicking. There was plenty of action and there was a spirit of expectancy as the quarter-back called out the signals.

Vancouver scored a point in the first quarter when Ryan heaved the ball across the dead-line when the line was left with no alternative. The visitors, after a series of runs, scored a touchdown when Bob Gourlay dropped on the ball just over the line. The attempt to add the extra point failed.

In the second quarter Victoria benefited by a beautiful kick by Fraser and when Anderson tied the score from near his own line with a kick, Lewis blocked the ball. Ryan rushed in gathered up the ball, handed it to one man and the second down the line was over. Ryan converted his own goal and tied the score.

LOCALS PLAY STRONGLY

Victoria were at their best in the third quarter and came within an ace of scoring on several occasions. Once they ended their third down within one foot of the Vancouver line. Vancouver cleared but Victoria won again and Gourlay was forced to make a safety touch which gave Victoria the lead once again.

The fourth quarter found Vancouver hot on the attack. Victoria was more contented than in the first frame the locals got in the right frame of mind they were able to travel, especially following the beautiful kicks of Fraser.

After Fraser had gained about thirty yards with a fine kick and McMillan had seized the fumble by Elby for a down, Victoria pressed hard and the second down found them within five yards of their objective. The Capitals lost ten yards on an offside and then Vancouver rallied and carried the ball out of danger.

EXPECT IT TO TAKE

The game made a good impression here and the succeeding game here should be well patronized. The national game is going big everywhere in the country and Victoria has taken it to her arms.

Suzanne Wins Again

New York, Oct. 11.—Suzanne Lenglen easily triumphed over her United States professional rival Mary K. Browne, 6-2, 6-1, at Madison Square Garden last night in a second series exhibition tennis match.

In a men's singles match, Vincent Richards was leading Harvey Snodgrass of Los Angeles, 6-4, 4-1, when the latter was forced to default because of illness.

Professional lawn tennis had its inauguration Saturday night with Suzanne Lenglen reviving a brilliant display of the racket wizardry.

Appearing before a gallery of 9,000 which paid $24,000 to see her in action, the queen of the courts dashed gallantly through two sparkling sets against Mary K. Browne of Santa Monica, Cal. The score was 6-1, 6-1.

Did you know that the new series Hummobile sells in Victoria for $2,185?

One Killed And Many Injured In Joy Spasm

Fans in St. Louis Turn Quiet Sabbath Into Wild Celebration; Tremendous Reception for Cardinals on Return Home To-night; Alexander and Thevenow Hailed as Heroes; Hornsby Proceeds to Mother's Funeral After Night in St. Louis

St. Louis, Oct. 11.—Hope springing into reality with the Cardinals triumphant in a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees sent thousands upon thousands of baseball-mad St. Louis citizens into a hysterical frenzy of celebration, and to-day set their eyes toward the first opportunity of welcoming home a world's champion baseball club.

Manager Rogers Hornsby and seventeen of his champion crew are due to arrive at the home camp to-day, with plans going forward here for their reception. Last night's boisterous celebration, which continued into the late hours, is expected only to rival the home-coming festivities that will be accorded the "Red Birds."

Jack Grosse, city chairman of the committee which planned last Monday's demonstration, when the Cardinals brought the series fight to home grounds, was making plans to-day to protect the returning balmen from possible injury from over-enthusiastic fans. The headline of the welcoming is scheduled to come to-night, with a formal celebration at Sportsman's Park.

SOBER THOUGHTS

A tinge of pathos traces St. Louis recollections of the stirring days of the series little light, for more sober thoughts recall that Hornsby must go in to Austin, Texas, to attend his mother's burial. He has announced that he will take the first available train for the Southwest after his arrival here. The ludicrous element continues apace.

Numerous signs have made their appearance, suggesting the elevation of Hornsby, Alexander, Thevenow and other heroes of the club to positions of honor from mayor to president.

Last night's merrymaking, however, took its toll of dead and injured. William Troll, seventeen, was killed when he was brushed into the street from the running board of an automobile caught in a traffic jam on a downtown street. Four persons, including a policeman, were injured while mingling with the revelers. One, a girl, was critically injured when she was caught in the street from the hood of an automobile where she was riding.

As soon as the game was over, St. Louisers, Alexander, Thevenow and other heroes of the club to positions of honor from mayor to president.

A SERIAL STORY

"The Unwilling Adventuress"

By MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER XVII.

"You are to take this note to Mrs. John Hartley and be sure that you deliver it personally, either to Mrs. or Mr. Hartley, in their suite on the Arcadia. Don't under any circumstances, leave it with a servant, or a steward, because it's very important and people are so careless." Camilla, charmingly clad for a bride-luncheon, delivered a sealed note, with the above crisp instruction, into the slim, gloved hand of Doris.

"And you might stop at the florist's round the corner and get roses. Have them charged to Henry. Now, be sure, you do just as I have told you."

Doris assured her cousin that she would follow instructions implicitly. She stripped away, trim and smart in her new Spring frock, and Camilla went down to her limousine and sank into its velvet cushions with a deep sigh of relief.

If Doris didn't make some stupid slip, everything would be splendid again. Her note to Hartley, explaining her non-appearance, would hold him, keep him—since he would receive it at practically the last moment—from doing anything rash that might jeopardize Camilla's matrimonial serenity. She couldn't have trusted a servant with the mission—Manhattan servants are sharp about putting two and two together—but Doris was an obliging and harmless little fool.

Camilla permitted her lovely lips a smile as she thought of Doris, waiting patiently on board the Arcadia for the appearance of the non-existent "Mrs. Hartley." Camilla only hoped that young Hartley wouldn't arrive too early and have time to get back to the pier and do any foolish telephoning.

Meanwhile, Doris, carrying a sheaf of big, hothouse roses, made her way to the pier.

She was rather thrilled with her first glimpse of a great ocean liner, almost ready to sail on her long journey, steam up, decks bustling with passengers and baggage. The Arcadia looked at least a mile tall to Doris's awed eyes. She was standing at the luxurious ease with which one stepped aboard her; there was no sense of transition; one moment, one was standing on the dock, and the next, one was following a steward across a shining deck, through luxuriously carpeted corridors to a suite de luxe.

Three-ninety-four: three-ninety-five: three-ninety-six, and seven—there were two suites reserved for Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, intoned the steward, opening a door and ushering Doris in. "They aren't aboard yet."

He closed the door behind her and hurried away. Doris stood in the centre of a luxuriously fitted sitting-room and gazed around her curiously. Silk curtains were half-drawn at the port-holes, shutting out the dark, mysterious of the docks, so the cabin was rather dim, but she could see its de luxe appointments.

An open doorway revealed an equally charming stateroom with a bed, chaise longue and dressing table worthy of her Cousin Camilla's own apartment. She saw the gleam of porcelain and nicker in the private suite bath adjoining and tiptoeing through the second room, rapt with admiration, she saw that a door in the bath, slightly ajar, disclosed a second suite of bedroom, sitting-room and bath, in the centre of which was piled a heap of distinctly masculine luggage.

The second suite was evidently reserved for Mr. Hartley's exclusive use.

Retreating hastily, Doris returned to the first sitting-room and seated herself to wait for the arrival of Mrs. Hartley, whose trunks, bags and hat boxes were already installed.

It was the sight of the shining newness of that luggage that made Doris decide suddenly that Mrs. Hartley must be a bride. The European trip was probably a honeymoon. Doris was romantically thrilled. Moreover, the dazzling idea pleasantly solved a thought that had puzzled her all the way to the pier.

She had heard of Hartley—he had seen him from afar at her cousin's house—but she had never known that there was a Mrs. Hartley. Certainly, she couldn't recall that he had ever been accompanied by his wife.

But this—this bridal suit de luxe accounted for everything!

It seemed to Doris while she waited, with the roses in her arms, filling the close air of the stateroom with their hothouse fragrance, that there was a terrific increase in the scurrying on the deck. Endless streams of footstools were hurrying through the corridors. She thought she heard a deep rumble somewhere sounding among the ear-splitting noise of the frantically busy dock.

But she sat quietly, waiting as she was bidden, for the appearance of the lady or her husband to whose hand, and none other, she was to deliver Camilla's note.

Suddenly she heard racing footsteps in the corridor, the stateroom door burst open, and a young man, breathless with haste, flung himself into the room.

After the sunlight outside, the room was dim and he paused for an uncertain moment trying to accustom his eyes to the shadow.

Doris saw instantly that it was young Hartley and rose to meet him.

To her astonishment, he caught her in his arms with a force that swept her breath away and, murmuring: "My darling, you have come. For a moment, I was terrified." He kissed her.

At that instant, the Arcadia with a deep, melodious bellow, swung free of her slip and made off.

CHAPTER XVIII

Neither Doris nor Hartley was aware that the Arcadia had started on her way to Europe.

She glided so smoothly that not the faintest ripple disturbed the silken curtains veiling the port-holes. And the two young people, starting backward from that embrace in the shadowy stateroom, were flushed, along together. Pretty soon they met Curly Twistytail, the fat little pig boy. "Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily and Jackie?" grunted Curly. "After pumpkins to make a pie."

"May I come?" grunted Curly, and Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose sideways, which was as good as saying "Yes!"

So the bunny and the piggy boy walked along together until they met Willie Wagtail, the goat. "Where is the party?" bleated Willie. "It's only a pumpkin party," said Uncle Wiggily with a jolly laugh.

"But you may come if you like, Billie," said Uncle Wiggily.

"I would like to very much!"

blent the little goat boy. So he walked along with the others, making four in all, if you will kindly count them—Uncle Wiggily, Jackie, Curly and Billie, to say nothing of a little Squiggie Bug who flew down out of a soon-to-be Christmas tree and buzzed—

"May I come to the party?" "Yes, but there isn't to be any ice-cream," said Uncle Wiggily.

"I don't mind," buzzed the Squiggie, so he crawled into Uncle Wiggily's pocket and went along that way.

Pretty soon, after a while, not so very long, the party reached a field where shocks of corn were cut and stacked, ready for the husking. And amid the corn shocks were golden, yellow pumpkins.

"Hurry! Here we are!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I'll take home a big pumpkin and Nurse Jane will bake me a pie." The farmer who owned the pumpkins had said Uncle Wiggily might, at any time, take the largest one the bunny could find.

So now, after gnawing it loose from the stem, Mr. Longears tried to lift the pie vegetable to carry it home. But it was too heavy for him.

"You had better roll it," said Jackie. "We'll all help you."

"I'll help, too," offered the Squiggie Bug.

"Ho! Ho!" bleated Billie, the goat.

"A Squiggie can't push a pumpkin. It needs someone strong like me."

With the help of the piggy, the doggie and the goatie, while the Squiggie Bug helped by grunting, Uncle Wiggily and his friends pushed the big, golden pumpkin to the top of the hill. At the bottom of the hill was the bunny's hollow stump bungalow.

"Now hold the pumpkin steady for a minute while we get our breaths!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Then we'll ease it gently down. If it gets going too fast it will run away from us."

"Let me hold the pumpkin on top of the hill," begged Billie, the goat. "So he steadied it with his horns. But just then, all of a sudden, the Squiggie Bug buzzed on Billie's ear and tickled him. The goat boy shook his head, let go of the pumpkin, and down the hill, bumpity bump rolled the golden vegetable. Striking a stone, it broke all to bits.

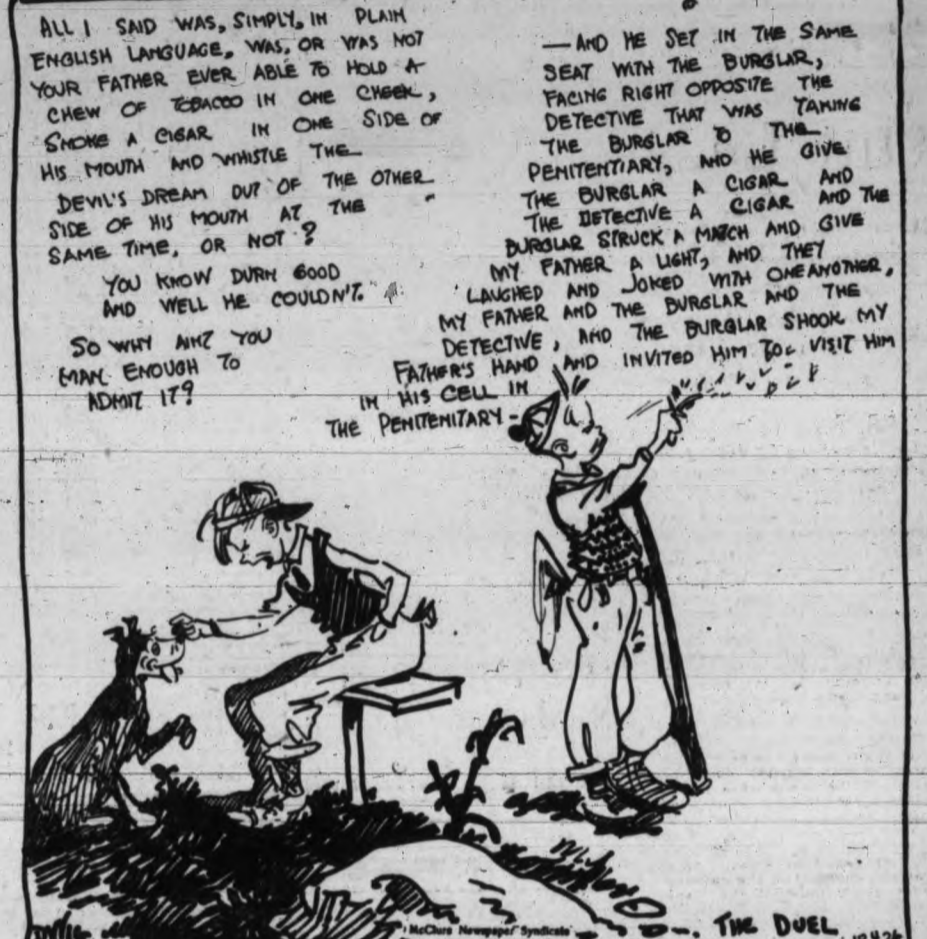

"Oh dear! How sad!" cried the piggy and doggie boys.

"Never mind," laughed Nurse Jane as she came out and picked it up for a pie. And when the pie was made Mr. Longears gave a party for all the boy and girl animals in Woodland.

And if the rocking chair doesn't tip over backward when the rag doll is stinging the goldfish to sleep, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the shady bumbler.

Five Were Killed in Train-auto Smash

Syracuse, N.Y., Oct. 11.—Five persons were killed yesterday when a New York Central passenger train crashed into a light sedan in which they were riding near the New York state fair grounds. The car was reduced to splinters and three of the bodies were carried fully 500 feet. Those killed were all from Syracuse. Railroad officials stated they were unable to understand how an automobile was driven on the crossing with the view in both directions practically unobscured.

the end of her tail to dust the hollow stump bungalow. "But if you will bring me a pumpkin now I shall make you a pie to-morrow."

"No sooner said than done!" cried the rabbit gentleman with a jolly laugh. Then, giving his pink nose an extra twinkle, he hopped down the front walk and out over the fields to look for a pumpkin.

Mr. Longears had not gone far before he met Jackie Bow Wow, one of the puppy dog boys.

"Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?" barked Jackie.

"Looking for a pumpkin," answered the bunny.

"May I come with you?" asked Jackie, for it was after school.

"Come along!" invited Uncle Wiggily, and he and Jackie walked

In the afternoon, however, it became evident that the liquidation immediately overhauling the market had been fairly well financed up, and which resulted in good-sized recoveries from the lows.

Probably the most significant feature in the bond world was the announcement of an increase of $1.174 tons in the unfilled orders of Steel Corporation during September, compared with a decrease of 69,600 tons the previous month.

The New York house statement showed an increase in reserves of $61,354,050, converting the previous week's deficit into a surplus of $37,993,330. Notwithstanding the extraordinary gain, the company renewed its 10 per cent. compared with Friday's opening rate of 4½ per cent.

Victoria Financier to Develop Chickamin Where Ore of $1,000 and up is Found

"We have got fabulous values in this ore," Mr. Castle said to-day. "Some of the samples have run from $1,000 to the ton, and even very much higher."

Mr. Castle, who is putting the Chickamaug stock on the local market, is known in financial circles for having sponsored Silversmith, Goldsmith, Richmond and Leadsmith, all of which have had big rises in prices, with profits of up to three and four hundred per cent to buyers, since he introduced them and got behind them.

LOG PRICES STRONG AS LUMBER MILLS KEEP UP DEMAND

Seattle, Oct. 11.—Strong log prices, with consumption by mills equal to the volume going into the water, is preventing the lumber market from weakening, and domestic buyers will not make firm offers for desirable items at prices quoted. The volume of Midwestern rail business has begun to decrease as a reaction from floods and high water that took heavy toll from the crops. California is poised for a steady price basis into early November, with possible declines afterward. Ocean freights toward the year-end are stronger, with an indicated advance for the first quarter. Foreign buyers are bullish as to lumber prices, bullish on freights. This situation seems to warrant the forecast that prices cannot go lower and that they will not advance this side of January 1.

The proposed merger of seventy West Coast mills and its probable effect on the market is conceded to be constructive. Whether the merged group will meet with other forms of competition from mills that are not members has not developed, although considerable confidence is felt by buyers that there will be ample middlemen's margins.

Close of navigation between Saginaw and Vladivostok and Japan has shut off log imports to Japan. This places Japanese buyers 100 per cent on the West Coast. Australia is willing to buy into the first quarter, but offers too little for the lumber, while conceding strong freights. Holland is buying 750,000 feet of timbers for docks.

Easy items of two-inch common can be bought for $17.50 for the North Atlantic, with hard schedules at $18 and timbers at $18 and $18.50. There is considerable buying to load out transit for October and the volume is expected to be sufficient to affect first quarter sales in a softened measure, reacting on the hindered California market.

Association mills cut 111,855,000 feet for the week, sold 102,691,000 and shipped 120,234,000. Of new business placed, 50,616,000 feet was for rail-shipping account, 27,671,000 feet for domestic cargo and 15,888,000 feet for export. Rail shipments were 56,072,000 feet; domestic, 43,048,000 feet; and export, 12,371,000 feet. Unshipped rail orders total 122,202,000 feet; domestic, 137,912,000, and export, 110,043,000 feet.

TRAIL SMELTER ENLARGING PLANT

Trail, B.C., Oct. 11.—Excavation has been completed and forms are ready for the pouring of concrete on an eighty-ton addition to the zinc refinery of Trail smelter, to bring the capacity up to 280 tons a day.

The extension begun in the summer of fifty tons, to the lead refinery, bringing it up to 400 tons daily capacity, will be finished in about a fortnight.

It may be asked, "Can the Christian religion offer a certain answer to the problem?" Such a certainty cannot be given by an intellectual presentation of the Christian faith. It is a certainty which lies deep in the religious consciousness, a mystic intuition gained after much thought. It is fully realized, only when a man embarks on the venture of faith, when he tries it out in life, in living action, when he acts as though these experiences of his soul are true; when he trusts the intuition that love is a dynamic, and can overturn all evil.

The men and women who act thus and put the power and love of God to the test, know beyond peradventure that these are not illusions, nor fantasies of man's imagination, but the biggest certainties of the universe. Only when the certainty has become so conscious as to be almost real, is the force of a man's life, and controls his attitude towards every problem of life. With the certainty comes a keener sensitiveness to evil, but also a deeper sense of the power resident within man to overcome, and an awareness that in working to overcome the pain of the world we are fellow-workers with the Divine Spirit. We come to realize, indeed, that God needs our help and cooperation in the task.

The problem is solved then by looking at the existence of evil not primarily as a problem, but as something to be overcome. It is the power of love to withstand and conquer all the suffering and pain of the world, that we can say with Paul, "We are persuaded that neither death nor life, nor things height nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God."

So the Christian religion offers to men and women not consolation, but a source of power and courage, an heroic faith in love which drives them to the service of the great friend and lover of mankind, to co-operate with him in bringing down to earth that heavenly Jerusalem whose builder and maker is God.

This friendship and fellowship with God is expressed so beautifully in H. G. Wells' book, "The Invisible Man," that I will pass one passage on to you as a closing thought.

FASHIONABLE SLIMNESS AND HEALTH

Girlish slimmness and perfect health go together if slimmness is gained naturally—by proper foods and simple exercises. If the diet is right a girl or woman will have a clear skin, vivacious, bubbling health, be slim, supple and youthful at any age.

Dr. Jackson, dietetic editor, "Archives of Therapeutics," New York, a physician's journal, advisor to "Defensive-Diet League," a physicians' association, though by heredity tending to be "fleshy," is at 67 slim, supple, vigorous, youthful; far more athletic than most youths he can outwalk, outrun, outswim, outplay and outwork 90% of all youths. He lives entirely upon natural foods, chiefly nuts, fruits, vegetables, Roman Meal, milk. Properly used, this diet will keep you well fed, slim, clear-skinned, vivacious, healthy, regardless of age or sex. SELECTED SETTLERS IN CANADA MAKING GOOD, HORNSEY SAYS

Only Two or Three Failures Out of 1,700 Families Who Came in Last Year

Domestic Servants and Farm Workers in England Growing Scarce

So carefully has the Canadian Immigration Service in England combed the thousands of applicants to come to Canada as farm settlers, that out of the 1,700 families that have been sent out during the last year and placed on farms chiefly in the prairies, there have been practically no failures, according to Capt. George Hornsey, who has arrived here on a visit to his wife and family at their home in St. James.

Capt. Hornsey was at the Work Point staff headquarters until three years ago when he was appointed to the Canadian Immigration Service in England.

"There is nothing to prevent anyone coming to Canada if he or she is physically fit, but under the assisted passage scheme of the British Government, intending immigrants are medically examined and carefully selected by the Canadian immigration officials," Capt. Hornsey said. "We find that the man with a wife and family is preferable, because when he comes to Canada he is anchored to the land and doesn't jump to the towns as so many single men do."

"Some of the outstanding successes we have had with these assisted settlers have been those of persons from the cities in England who have known nothing about farming before. The reason why is that they haven't anything to unlearn, which is not the case with the English rural emigrant."

WELL PAID IN ENGLAND
The single farm worker in England to-day who would emigrate is practically non-existent. Partly because of the bad weather during the last few years, farmers have been giving up grain growing, and going into livestock grazing. Farm lads to-day have union hours and their wages are equal to anything we can offer them in this country. The farmers' organizations oppose us because they say we are trying to take away the pick of what men they have left. Our chief talking point for the trained farm laborer is that by coming to Canada he will gain the opportunity of owning a farm for himself and family, which he could never do in England.

"In addition to the passage money the British Government backs the new settlers to the extent of $1,500 for equipment on their farms."

FEW FAMILIES RETURN
"We have had only two or three cases in the last three years where families which we selected, have gone back to England. It is generally the women that become dissatisfied in Canada. Our hardest work in England is to make the women visualize what they will be up against in Canada, in the isolated countryside, with no hedges, few conveniences, and conditions quite different from what they are in a settled country like England."

"Trained domestic servants in England are now as scarce as hen's teeth. The girls won't stand for former conditions any more as so many other opportunities have opened up for them."

A BUSY TIME
The 1,700 families that were sent out to Canada under the assisted passage scheme were selected from about 7,000 examined. Capt. Hornsey explained. The life of a Canadian immigration man in England is no bed of roses, he added, as he himself has to attend and secure at all the agricultural and other shows, examine applicants in their homes, explain Canadian conditions to them, and then on top has to answer about 2,000 letters a month.

Police on Trail of Deer Hunters Breaking Laws

With the deer season in full swing on Vancouver Island, 41 hunters are flocking to the woods in hundreds during the week-end. Provincial Police have shown a determination to enforce game regulations. Three months in jail without the option of a fine was imposed by Magistrate Walker at Courtenay on one offender caught pit-lamping. Constable Dawson and Inspector Parsons caught the huntsman George Parker at Campbell River at night with a gun in his hand. Fresh bloodstains on the hands of the accused led the officer to question Parker who denied flashing a light to attract the attention of deer and then shooting them. Later he took the officers to where the shot deer lay and admitted that he had pit-lamped it.

Provincial officers have also carried the war against breakers of the game regulations to Hornby Island. Shiuiki Kawada was found with deer meat in the cookhouse of a logging camp and was fined $100. The police were unable to prove a charge against Keyuchi Yano of having deer meat in an eating house on Hornby Island.

UNREST GROWS IN SCHLESWIG

Copenhagen, Denmark, Oct. 11.—Denmark was stirred yesterday by rumors of an intended coup d'état in Schleswig, where there has been an active home rule movement among the discontented factors. They complain of unjust and ruinous taxation imposed by the Danish Socialist Government in the face of depressed agricultural conditions.

Two of the leaders in the movement, both former officers in the Danish army, were arrested Saturday on charges of inciting army officers to mutiny.

CANADIAN CLUB LUNCHEON FRIDAY

Col. Biggar and Dr. Robertson to Speak on Red Cross Work

At a luncheon of the Canadian Club on Friday, which it is hoped will also be attended by members of the Women's Canadian Club, service organizations and other interested bodies, Dr. J. W. Robertson and Col. J. L. Biggar of the Canadian Red Cross Society will be the speakers. The luncheon will be held at the Empress Hotel at noon.

Col. Biggar is known to many Victorians as he was practicing here before the war, and became medical officer to the 88th Battalion before proceeding to France. He will be the main speaker Friday, telling something of the post-war accomplishments and aims of the Red Cross Society, and its association with the League of Nations in its capacity of a voluntary auxiliary.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?
Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief?
Why cutting and operations fail?
Do you know the cause of piles is internal?
That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel?
Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by MacFarlane Drug Co. and druggists everywhere, that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. Don't delay. Try HEM-ROID to-day. It will do the same for you. (Adv.)
